GROWERS DEFEY STRIKE LEADERS

Taxi Case Pair Face Accuser in Hospital Room

By FRANK ORR

The deep eyes and pain-twisted face of the man they are accused of brutally shooting were turned on Don DeBord and Jerry Vance yesterday. They met in St. Joseph hospital. Vance and DeBord may have felt the swish of the hangman's noose past their heads, or thought of spending their lives behind grey walls and barred gates as they heard Harold Marshall, 24-year-old Laguna Beach taxi driver, accuse them of being the two strangers who slugged him, fired a crippling shot into his spine, then robbed him of $6.00 on June 16. For those $6.00 they may be hanged. Marshall's

LEAGUE HEARS WAR FEARS

Powers Are Urged By De Valera to Keep Peace in Europe

BULLETIN

GENEVA, (P)—Emperor Haile Selassie asked the League of Nations assembly tonight to approve a loan of $500,000,000 to finance Ethiopia's defense of her "integrity." He went before the "statesmen for the second time to plead for the seemingly lost cause of his African kingdom, now declared a part of the reborn empire by Premier Benito Mussolini.

GENEVA, (P)—Immediate convocation of a conference of the great powers to prevent a European war, was proposed to the League of Nations assembly late today by Eamon De Valera, president of the Irish Free State. The suggestion surprised many delegates, but it dovetailed into what appeared to be determined plans to make a durable deal with non-League Germany.

Cites Menace De Valera said if the powers met now in a peace conference, "which would have to be held after Europe once more was drenched in blood, the terrible menace which threatens us all today can be warded off."

De Valera spoke after the Netherlands foreign minister, Dr. A. C. D. de Graeff, made an open bid before the assembly for adherence of the United States and other Geneva absentees.

Would Cut Elimination of all sanctions from the league's peace machinery and suggested transformation of the covenant into an agreement of a purely consultative type.

His proposal, which created a stir in the assembly chamber, supplemented the idea that the only league sanction which should be maintained was that of automatically expelling any aggressor state.

Woman Tells of James' Advances

LOS ANGELES, (P)—Miss Grace Yarrow testified today that Robert S. James, former Birmingham, Ala., barber, kissed her and attempted to make love to her while his fifth wife, Winona Wallace James, lay at the point of death in a Colorado hospital. James is on trial on a charge of murdering his seventh wife, Mary Busch James, by drowning her in a bathtub. His fifth wife also met her death by drowning in a bathtub, after previously being injured in an automobile accident.

Deputy District Attorney Eugene Williams said he was attempting to show the strange parallel between the deaths of the fifth and seventh wives, and to show that both were victims of plots by James.

J. P. MORGAN'S TOO HEAVY Doctors Order Weight Cut

GLEN COVE, N. Y. (P)—J. P. Morgan's physicians mapped a weight reduction regimen today for the portly financier who was reported convalescing from an attack of neuritis in the moated fastness of his Long Island estate. The banker, partially incapacitated, was carried by ambulance and lifted from a private railway coach yesterday into the seclusion of his country house. Medical advisers, family members and business associates minimized the affliction, declaring he was not seriously ill and that he probably would make his annual vacation trip to his estate near London and his grouse-hunting sojourn in Scotland. The banker is in his 69th year. It was said Morgan was carried into and off the car that brought him from West Manchester, Mass., because neuritis affecting his legs had rendered walking painful.

It was the same look he must have given his assailants on the night of June 16, when two youths wanted to tie him, hand and foot, and leave him to die in a lonely spot on Laguna canyon road. Then he pleaded with them to take him back near his home, not to leave him to die there.

It was the Orange township justice court moved for the moment to St. Joseph hospital, where Marshall lies, his chest stung with pain and his legs completely paralyzed from a shot which punctured his chest and lodged in his spine.

Held to Answer It was a preliminary hearing on charges of kidnapping under California's new "Lindbergh law," which imposes death or life imprisonment without parole, on conviction. The prisoners were held to answer to superior court.

Marshall gave his name and occupation. He told of seeing Vance—he pointed to him—at 8 o'clock the night of June 16. He said Vance came up to his cab at Laguna Beach and asked him if he was busy, then said he wanted to be taken up the canyon to look for a house he had not seen for a year.

"He Shot Me" "After we went about two miles," Marshall said in a low, clear voice, "I told him how far from town we were and he said it was a little bit farther."

"As we went around the bend, where there were no houses, I had a premonition. I turned, and he hit me on the back of the head with a gun. When I tried to grab him, he shot me below the right shoulder."

"Then Vance got in the front seat. The other—this De Bordo—jerked open the door. He had a rope in his hand. He said, 'Shall we tie him up?'"

Victim Went Blind Marshall said he gave the two men his billfold and told them "you shouldn't have shot me."

"Vance told me," he continued, "they were in a jam and needed money and a car to get out."

"I asked them not to leave me there, to take me back to town. Otherwise I might die there, and they'd have a murder on their hands. I started to go blind as they turned around, but I saw

Riccardi Jailed In Alleged H. B. Mine Swindle

Arrested yesterday in Douglas, Ariz., with more than $700 in cash and checks on his person, Vincent Riccardi, mine operator, was being held there for return to Santa Ana on a grand theft charge.

Riccardi is charged in a complaint filed by A. F. Betschart of Huntington Beach with having sold him $3490 in stock in a gold mine which he said Riccardi did not own. Arizona officers learned that Riccardi had recently taken over a mining property at Courtland, Ariz.

He was being held under $10,000 bond pending release to Santa Ana officers.

Jury Acquits Aged Man in Slaying

SAN JOSE, (P)—Peter Voiss, 72-year-old former prospector, was acquitted by a jury today of the slaying of Dr. Jasper Gattuccio, San Jose dentist. Voiss sobbed as the jurors read the verdict, returned after deliberating one hour. The shooting occurred a few weeks ago after the dentist had refused to pay 50 cents for the privilege of photographing the aged man.

Air Playwright's 'Love Life' in Court

How Charles MacArthur, playwright, pictured above with his present wife, Helen Hayes, the actress, "stepped on the toes and kissed the nose" of Carol Frink, his first wife, was told in court in Chicago today by Miss Frink at the trial of her suit for $100,000 against Miss Hayes. She charges Helen alienated the affections of Charlie before Charlie and Miss Frink were divorced.

Writer Suing Helen Hayes For $100,000 Relates How Actress' Mate Wooed Her

CHICAGO, (P)—Describing her first "real" date with her former husband, Charles MacArthur, the playwright, Carol Frink, Chicago dramatic critic, told Judge Walter J. Labuy today "Charlie suddenly grabbed me, stepped on my feet, kissed me on the nose and said he loved me. Miss Frink testified in her $100,000 alienation suit against Miss Helen Hayes, the actress, present wife of MacArthur, charging the stage and screen star stole the love of her former husband.

The critic began her story, which was interrupted after a few minutes by a court recess, by telling how MacArthur wooed and won her in 1920, when both were working on Chicago newspapers. Eight years later, after a divorce, MacArthur married Miss Hayes.

That First Date Miss Frink, dramatic critic for the Chicago Herald and Examiner, pictured her former husband as an impetuous and light-hearted swain.

On their first real date—they had had dinner together once before—they went to suburban Ravinia park to see the opera. "After the concert," Miss Frink related, "we walked in the park. Charlie suddenly grabbed me, stepped on my feet, kissed me on the nose and said he loved me."

MacArthur, sitting beside Miss Hayes at the counsel table, stared straight ahead. "When we came to our senses, everybody had gone. We had to climb a fence to get out of the park."

Miss Frink sat erect on the witness stand, her gaze fixed on her attorney, Sam Golan. Beyond her the courtroom was jammed past seating capacity. The audience was principally women and girls, churning in intense excitement.

Wheat futures registered the maximum gains permitted for one day at the continent's major markets. As the grain pits churned in intense excitement, wheat in Chicago was lifted 5 cents a bushel to above the dollar mark for the first time since last March, it rose 5 cents at Minneapolis, the maximum of 3 at Winnipeg and closed 4 cents higher at Liverpool. Other major grains sold at the season's top levels.

Trial of Alleged Spy on Today

Trial of Harry Thomas Thompson, former Orange county jail prisoner charged with conspiracy to sell United States navy secrets to Japan, was to begin today in Los Angeles district court.

Thompson was indicted by a federal grand jury, with Lieut. Com. Toshio Miyazaki of the Japanese navy, on charges of conspiracy to violate the espionage act. Miyazaki is believed at present to be an instructor in the Japanese naval college at Tokyo and probably will not be returned here for trial.

POPE ORDERS CENSORSHIP OF MOVIES

Tells Bishops in U. S. to Classify Films on Moral Basis

VATICAN CITY, (P)—Pope Pius today instructed bishops throughout the world to "classify" all motion pictures and to designate "bad films" which Catholics should "abstain from witnessing."

His Holiness, in an encyclical directed to the American hierarchy because of its lead in the clean pictures campaign, expressed himself as "anguished" at the "lamentable progress of the motion picture industry in the portrayal of sin and vice."

He also told the bishops to obtain from the faithful annually renewable promises to refuse to patronize undesirable movies. His holiness ordered the establishment of motion picture review offices under the supervision of the bishops and said these officers would inform the laymen what pictures they may or may not see.

The Pope ordered that a permanent national reviewing office be set up in each country and suggested it be entrusted to the headquarters of the Catholic Action organization and dependent on the bishops.

Standards Vary He said he realized standards varied from one country to another, and this would have to be taken into consideration. The pontiff urged that bishops' appeal to the Catholics connected with motion picture production, saying the influence of these Catholics "has not always been in accordance with their faith and ideals."

The Pope declared: "People who, in time of repose, give themselves diversions which violate decency, honor, or morality and to recreation, constitute occasions of sin, are in grave danger of losing their greatness and even national power."

League Organized "Cinema producers of America themselves became concerned over evil movies in 1930 and issued a code according to which they promised to abstain from production of films calculated to demoralize or bring discredit to natural or human law," the papal letter said.

"However the point of fact, they proved themselves scarcely able to put it into effect. For this reason American bishops felt themselves called on to intervene and organize the faithful under their charge into a League of Decency which has as its object a public promise renewed every year to abstain from attending exhibition of immoral films."

French Deputies Walk Out in Row PARIS, (P)—After a tumultuous session from which the rightist members walked out in a body, the chamber of deputies today voided the election of Jean Chiappe, president of the Paris municipal council, as deputy from Corsica.

When Chiappe spoke from the rostrum to defend himself against charges of election irregularities, the leftists screamed: "Chiappe in prison! Chiappe in prison!"

Chiappe is in disfavor with leftists because he was in charge of the police at the time of the Stavisky scandal.

Shotgun Bandits Rob Bank in L. A.

LOS ANGELES, (P)—Three shotgun bandits, who calmly scooped up $2000 in a branch of the Seaboard National bank and drove away unmolested, evaded police search today.

Eight employees and 12 customers lined up against the wall just before closing time yesterday, said the robber trio gathered currency from the tellers' cages in a large shopping bag while busy afternoon traffic streamed unaware by the windows.

Surgeons Will Operate to Separate Siamese Twins, One Alive, the Other Dead

MEDFORD, Mass. (P)—Surgeons prepared today to separate Siamese twins—one living, the other dead. The twins were born last night to Mr. and Mrs. Diego Fiorenzo of Everett.

Dr. John B. Vermaglia, who delivered the babies, said the larger, weighing seven pounds, died about five hours after birth. The other, weighing five pounds, he said, was "very much alive."

Dr. Vermaglia said success of the operation depended on whether bone tissue connecting the infants by the backs of their heads, held inter-communicating brain tissue.

Both babies were girls. Dr. Vermaglia said, the babies were formed perfectly except for the junction of bone tissue at the backs of the heads. The doctor described the connection as "good-sized."

Lawrence Memorial hospital authorities said preparations for the operation probably would not be completed before late this afternoon.

Approximately 12 hours had passed, this afternoon, since the death of the larger twin and the living child, attendants said, showed no evidence of ill effects.

The continued well-being of the smaller girl, Dr. Vermaglia said, made it increasingly apparent that there was no connecting brain tissue.

BIG AVOCADO CROP SEEN FLOOD PLANS UNCHANGED

Yield in 1937 Expected to Double; Predict $200,000 Return Project to Proceed on Schedule, Says Army Engineer

An Orange county avocado crop double that of this year and bringing in returns of $200,000 was forecast today.

The harvest, it was estimated by Calavo Growers, will equal the record breaking yield of 1935 when 3,270,000 pounds of avocados were taken from Orange county trees.

Returns that year amounted to $167,000, but with business conditions improving, returns in 1937 on the same crop will amount to approximately $200,000, it was estimated by Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg.

Survey Made "Unless unseasonal weather conditions should cause a heavier-than-normal drop, next season's total calavo-avocado crop will exceed that of the record 1935 season," said Production Manager B. C. Stephens of the Calavo Growers of California. "This preliminary forecast, based on careful surveys in every district recently, indicates a crop of more than double that of the present season."

"Next season's crop is fairly well distributed, although it is more spotted in some districts than others. Considerable of the new crop will come from new groves, and from the greater bearing surfaces of the others. As the maturity of the new crop will create a sudden peak, it will cause a greater marketing difficulty than did the record 1935 crop, which set and matured over a far greater length of time."

Advertising Program "A proposed marketing program to move this greater crop has been tentatively approved by the growers' directors of the organized growers' marketing program. Large additional markets for calavo growers' fruit will be created next season by opening five additional branch sales offices in the East and Midwest. This gives these growers a total of 33 sales and distributing centers throughout the major markets of the entire nation."

"Greater usage of newspaper advertising than ever before is also scheduled to help move the greater crop next season, particularly in eastern and midwestern markets, the greatest potential outlets. Next season's advertising budget per packed box, however, will remain the same as this season."

"The cooperative's leaders feel quite enthused over the eastern marketing outlook for next season, despite the larger crop."

First Steps Taken Orange county in the meantime has taken steps toward the start of the project, by engaging federal land bank appraisers to evaluate the property which the county will provide for rights-of-way and easements. Cost of this probably will be in the neighborhood of $2,000,000.

As plans now stand, a bond election to provide the necessary funds will be held following the appraisal work, probably in October.

Preliminary surveys of the Army engineers are to follow, with actual work on the project not expected to get under way till January, 1937.

North's Sawmill Workers Strike

SPOKANE, Wash. (P)—Spreading strikes threatened today to paralyze the lumber industry of north Idaho and eastern Washington. Spokane's sawmill workers union voted unanimously last night to walk out today in support of their demands for a 50-cent hourly minimum, a 40-hour week and a closed shop.

Strangler of Girl Found Sane

SAN FRANCISCO, (P)—Albert Walter Jr., confessed strangler of Miss Blanche Cousins of Idaho Falls, Ida., was found sane by a jury today, and attorneys said he probably would be allowed to plead guilty and be sentenced to hang.

PLACE ARMED GUARDS IN GROVES

Deputize 125 Men Today As Shotguns Face Agitators

Ranchers and citrus packers joined today with the sheriff and highway patrol to put a stop to intermittent warfare in the Orange county citrus pickers' strike. Their ultimatum to strikers was: "All violence must stop!"

One hundred twenty-five armed deputies went into fields throughout the county today, as the result of a meeting this morning at which growers pledged themselves to back Sheriff Logan Jackson "100 per cent" in his battle against marauding picketers and strike agitators.

Men armed with shotguns will protect every working crew. Sheriff Jackson and growers agreed that overt acts of the past several days, in which pickers have been beaten and stabbed, must be stopped at all costs.

Strike Broken Both Stuart Strathman, growers' representative, and the sheriff said that, while the violence is vicious, it could not alter the fact that for practical purposes the strike is broken.

Officers said they would not relax their vigilance until activities of all agitators are curbed.

Strathman reiterated the growers' stand that jobs will be given all pickers who wish to return to work, regardless of union affiliation, but that every effort will be made to keep militant union workers and agitators out of picking crews.

Jobs Waiting "All strikers have been contacted personally," he said, "and we find that many of them have been misled by strike sympathizers, and wish to return to their jobs. Some we find have gone to vegetable areas in the north, at 25 cents an hour, and wish to return here."

"We have told them all their jobs are waiting for them."

In the meantime, he said, houses are meeting their prorates, with the crews on hand. He characterized the violence of the past several days as the work of only a few who wish to prolong the trouble, and said that much of the disturbance had been caused by (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

Stop Us If You've Heard This

In a certain prominent Santa Ana family there has been an awful argument between the Mr. and Mrs. over where they are going to spend the vacation. He wants to go to the mountains and she wants to go to the beach. We don't know yet how the spat will end, but we suspect there'll be a compromise. Anyway, what we started out to say was that you can read what they decide in The Journal's society columns, where Betty Cox, the new society editor, specializes in news about folks. ## CITRUS RATE CUT SAVES MILLIONS

Freight Cost Cut Eight Cents Per Box Under New Schedule

Many thousands of dollars will be saved for Orange county citrus growers by an agreement reached this week with the four western railroads bringing about a reduction of 8 cents per 100 pounds on citrus freight rates.

Reduction of the 100-pound rate from $1.43 to $1.35 will mean a saving of approximately $2,000,000 to growers of California and Arizona, officials of the four railroads said today.

Rate Per Box
The new rate will become effective as soon as the necessary concurrence can be obtained from connection lines and the interstate commerce commission. The agreement contemplates publication as a temporary rate to expire Oct. 31, 1937, and to be subject to further consideration at that time.

The new rate will be $1.0526 per packed box, or $486.30 per car. The saving will be $1.0624 per box, or $28.83 per car, as the present rates makes the pre-car price of shipment $515.13.

Lemon Saving
On a 70,000,000 car crop the saving to growers will be $2,018,100.

The reduction applies to all citrus, including oranges, lemons and grapefruit, with an increase in lemon carload to 34,000 pounds from 29,000 pounds. Lemon growers will save $27.20 per carload, or $544,000 on a 20,000 car crop. Twenty-eight persons, including traffic officials of the Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Western Pacific railroads, and officials of the California Fruit Growers exchange and M. O. D. participated in the two-day meeting from which the reductions were effected.

TREASURY HAS 3 MILLION

Orange county yesterday had $3,647,356.71 on hand in its treasury yesterday when John C. Mitchell, chairman of the board of supervisors, District Attorney W. F. Menton and County Auditor W. T. Lambert made their official monthly count.

Not all of the sum, however, represents clear balance because of warrants issued late in June and not yet cashed, officials said. The total includes not only county tax collections and other purely county money, but all school, road district, flood control district and other special funds handled through the county treasury.

The tabulation showed $2,238,000 deposited in banks at 1 per cent interest, registered state warrants totaling $50,376.18, $292.29 in coin, $51,008 in currency, $1,297,554.81 checking account balances and $912,543 in warrants and checks. Total June 1 was $4,207,138.51.

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (AP)—The appellate division by a 3-to-2 decision today affirmed a supreme court justice's ruling that the New York state law outlawing "balm suits" was unconstitutional.

Dragged From Car
Vance drove him back to Laguna Beach, Marshall said. The taxi driver, paralyzed and blinded by the shot, asked his assailants to take him to a park lot, hoping they might leave him at a parking space in which he owned a half interest.

"I tried to tell where we were by the dumps in the streets," he continued. "I know most of them by heart around there."

"They finally stopped in back of the Sandwich Mill and drug me out and told me to stand up. I couldn't. I was paralyzed. When I hit the ground in a prone position, my sight came back somehow and I saw them drive away in my taxi."

Can't Remember
DeBord and Vance shifted from one foot to the other. Vance kept his eyes on the floor at the foot of the bed, chewing on a match. DeBord looked straight ahead, his face pasty and his lips drawn in a thin line.

"I don't remember opening the door," said DeBord.

They stood awkwardly as Justice A. W. Swayze spoke to others at the bedside, and as they heard the voice of Deputy District Attorney James L. Davis saying:

"I hereby inform you that on next Friday, July third, at 10 o'clock in the morning, in Department 2 of the superior court, there will be filed against you information charging you with the crime of kidnapping. The sheriff will see that you are in court at that time."

The door opened. The prisoners turned and were escorted out, their manacles clanking. They went back to the county jail. In their cells they will wait for trial. Marshall, with a bullet wound in his spine, will wait in his hospital bed.

STUDENTS IGNORE $400 Fail to Collect N. Y. A. Checks

Santa Ana Junior college students are shunning $400! There's nothing wrong with the money, either. The students worked as stenographers, typists, gardeners, laboratory assistants, janitors and readers, to earn that $400.

Yet between 40 and 50 students have unconcernedly failed to claim from the board of education business offices the checks awaiting them in final payment for their work under the National Youth administration, directed locally by Calvin C. Flint, junior college dean of men.

Work on N. Y. A. projects ended June 12, with the close of school. When final checks amounting to $1391.60 arrived June 25, to be distributed to the 150 students, most of the checks were claimed with alacrity.

Students who have not yet claimed their payments may do so at the board of education business office, open between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. five days a week.

VOTE BATTLE FUTURE NUNS TAKE VOWS

Trial of an election contest brought by E. I. Moore of Newport Beach against Charles H. Way, member of the Newport Beach elementary school board, was postponed today when H. A. McCabe, deputy district attorney, discovered he is not legally allowed to represent Way.

Ordinarily the district attorney's office represents school boards, but this is regarded as a personal matter. Superior Judge H. G. Ames was to have heard the dispute in department 1 of the superior court this afternoon. He set July 9 and 10 a. m. as the new hearing date. Way is to obtain an attorney in the meantime.

Moore charges that he was not properly credited with write-in votes when the ballots in the recent school election was counted. Way, whose name was the only one printed on the ballots, received 95 votes.

Moore declares he was credited with 75 votes cast for Edward I. Moore but not with 41 votes for E. I. Moore and 20 other votes with "Moore" spelled in various ways. Way's answer, prepared by Deputy District Attorney McCabe, admitted the votes but denied that they were intended for Edward I. Moore.

MORE ABOUT STRIKERS

grows not asking guards, a fact of which the strikers took advantage.

Cars Located
In the meantime two cars used in the attack on pickers in an Atwood yesterday have been found by sheriff's deputies and identified as belonging to Ciril Negretti, and D. Dominguez, both of La Jolla.

Reports were received at the sheriff's office that Mexicans living in the La Jolla pickers' camp had been ordered to move out by packers, but this had not been verified at noon.

Reports also were being investigated that agitators attempted to force entry into a Mexican house at Atwood yesterday, but were repulsed.

Arrests Made
Two arrests were made — Jose Pantoja, 31, of La Jolla, being booked by immigration authorities for asserted illegal entry, and Tineserio Jimenez, 17, of Independence, cited for a traffic violation.

Seven or eight Mexicans in a truck were reported to have attempted intimidation of a picking crew near Anaheim yesterday. Their efforts went no farther than yelling and throwing oranges at the crew.

Stoning of picking crews in the attacks.

Whittier district continued yesterday as the trouble apparently was spreading northward. Three were arrested by Los Angeles county authorities on charges of assault and battery as an aftermath of the attacks.

PARAMOUNT CHIEF NAMED
NEW YORK, (AP)—Barney Balaban, widely known theater operator of Chicago and the Middle West, today was elected president of Paramount Pictures, Inc., at a special meeting of the organization's board of directors.

Robert Cummings of the movies spends his days off learning to operate a glider. He's a licensed pilot, too.

Full extent of the switch probably will not be known until July 16, when registrations close for the August primary and records of the deputies are brought to County Clerk J. M. Backs for compilation.

Instructed by club officers to vote for Harry R. Sheppard, congressional candidate on the Democratic ticket, from 10 to 15 Republican Townsends are changing party affiliations and going Democratic here, it was learned today.

The known changes are those taken over the counter in the county clerk's office, but indications are that registration deputies in other communities also are receiving many changes of party affiliation.

Ed Stafford, Santa Ana pioneer, passed today on his 74th birthday to look back over 50 years spent in this city.

His father, N. O. Stafford, arrived in Santa Ana in 1868, a year before W. H. Spurgeon, the city's founder, came. There was no city here then, but Stafford's father bought a tract of land in 1869, together with Columbus Tustin, who founded the city of Tustin the next year, 1870.

Starting as a teller in the Commercial bank of Santa Ana in 1905, Stafford followed the bank through all its various mergers and consolidations, until two years ago, when he resigned from the Farmers and Merchants Savings bank and went to live on his small orange grove, on Edgewood road.

When asked how he liked farming, Stafford said "I think it fine. I wish I had started it before."

TEXAS FLOOD CLAIMS 21 VICTIMS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A devastating flood, rolling seaward from southwest Texas today, left at least 21 persons dead, 14 missing and property damage estimated at $1,000,000.

A circular area between San Antonio and Austin, 80 miles apart, was suddenly engulfed by torrential rains of two days, but fears of further outbreaks of the water diminished.

Farming communities bore the brunt of the desolation as small, ordinarily placid rivulets became sprawling currents in a few hours.

Thin Plum creek, a hill-bound trickle normally six feet wide, claimed the greatest toll for a single stream—more than a dozen persons. Some of them were swept into the water as they clung to flimsy homes.

A Missouri-Pacific freight train tumbled through a washed out trestle gap near Kyle, Tex., killing a man and a boy and possibly others.

Broad gaps of cotton and corn, at maturity or near it, were laid waste and hundreds of cattle drowned.

OBSERVES 74TH BIRTHDAY

Ed Stafford, Santa Ana pioneer, passed today on his 74th birthday to look back over 50 years spent in this city.

His father, N. O. Stafford, arrived in Santa Ana in 1868, a year before W. H. Spurgeon, the city's founder, came. There was no city here then, but Stafford's father bought a tract of land in 1869, together with Columbus Tustin, who founded the city of Tustin the next year, 1870.

Starting as a teller in the Commercial bank of Santa Ana in 1905, Stafford followed the bank through all its various mergers and consolidations, until two years ago, when he resigned from the Farmers and Merchants Savings bank and went to live on his small orange grove, on Edgewood road.

When asked how he liked farming, Stafford said "I think it fine. I wish I had started it before."

He spent part of his birthday today, digging out in the orchard, despite his 74 years. An old friend from Costa Mesa sent him a huge angel food cake, something that she has done on his birthday for many years.

"I don't know what I'm going to do with it all," he said, "but I'll find some way, if I have to give some to all my relatives."

Change Parties to Vote for Sheppard

Instructed by club officers to vote for Harry R. Sheppard, congressional candidate on the Democratic ticket, from 10 to 15 Republican Townsends are changing party affiliations and going Democratic here, it was learned today.

The known changes are those taken over the counter in the county clerk's office, but indications are that registration deputies in other communities also are receiving many changes of party affiliation.

Full extent of the switch probably will not be known until July 16, when registrations close for the August primary and records of the deputies are brought to County Clerk J. M. Backs for compilation.

MORE ABOUT HAYES SUIT

asked Charlie for the tickets, Charlie told him:

"This is the girl I'm in love with. How do you like her?"

Miss Frink said MacArthur conducted a high speed romance. Two days after their date at the opera, she went to New York on vacation.

"Charlie rode on the train with me to Gary," Miss Frink said. "He said he'd come to New York on his vacation and see me there if I would let him."

"Letters started arriving immediately. Then he telegraphed from Detroit that he was on his way."

'This Is So Sudden'
"The day he arrived we spent the whole day together. We went to lunch, and then to a movie, and then to Coney Island."

"In the Old Mill, there, he proposed."

"What did he say?" asked Attorney Golan.

"He said, 'Take a chance and marry me.'"

"What did you say?"

"This is so sudden,"

A roar of laughter swept the courtroom, Miss Frink laughing with the rest.

They Saved $2
"We hung around until we were in the same fix we were in Ravenna. Finally we took an old hack to get back to town."

"He said 'Now's the time to get married. My father is a minister and we can save $2.'"

MacArthur's father is the Rev. William MacArthur, a Presbyterian minister in New York.

"He introduced me to his father and his father said, 'She's pretty as a picture.'"

Miss Frink added, laughing, that "of course, that was a long time ago."

The Rev. MacArthur told her, Miss Frink testified, that he didn't think his son should marry, because Charles was "too irresponsible."

Later, she telephoned her own father to talk it over, she said, MacArthur coming on the line to say:

She Never Proposed
"I don't like to steal your daughter, but I'll try to make it up to you."

Golan then asked his client: "Did you ever proposed to him?"

"No."

"Did you ever propose to him?"

"No—he told me that."

"What else did he say?"

"He said 'Don't be too hard on me, I'm hard to domesticate, because I'm a genius.'"

They were married August 28, 1920. He returned to his Chicago newspaper job; she stayed in New York, writing scenarios.

Charlie Takes Stand
MacArthur preceded his former wife on the stand, identifying a stack of letters and telegrams, many signed with pet names, exchanged before and after his marriage to Miss Frink.

Attorney Golan said Miss Frink's case relied heavily on three fan magazine interviews in which Miss Hayes told of her romance with MacArthur. He counted on them, Golan explained, to show that it blossomed before MacArthur's divorce from Miss Frink. Before ending his questioning of Miss Frink, Attorney Golan asked her:

"Did you consummate your marriage in New York?"

Her reply was "No."

POLICE SLAY 13 IN LABOR SQUABBLE

MERIDA, Yucatan. (AP)—Federal troops took control of Merida today after police, guarding the palace of Gov. Fernando Lopez Cardenas, killed 13 striking bus drivers during a labor demonstration.

Fifty-one other strikers were wounded in the rain of machine gun bullets poured into the crowd outside the palace.

Cardenas, blamed by labor leaders for the demonstration, resigned the governorship and the legislature named Florencio Palomo Valencia acting chief executive.

The demonstration started yesterday with a mass meeting at the striking bus drivers, together with some taxicab drivers, blocked traffic in downtown Merida.

They marched to the palace in protest against non-enforcement of labor contracts which were drawn in May with assistance of the governor.

Before the palace, the crowd began a demonstration during which several small bombs exploded. Municipal Council Secretary Vicente Lugo was wounded. Then, police opened fire with machine guns aimed at the strikers.

As the disturbance spread, Gen. Otero Pablos, military zone commandant, called troops who dispersed the police and established guard posts throughout the city.

COLOR USE TOLD TO KIWANIS

Importance of color and design in dress, architecture, and advertising was explained to Kiwanians yesterday by Ed C. Northridge, Hollywood commercial artist, in a talk entitled "The Commercial Value of Art."

Beginning with a red-and-green color illusion, Northridge showed various tricks of the trade in location, kind, and size of design in art work in advertising.

An artist must have a scientific knowledge of color and psychology in addition to his ability as a designer, the speaker said. Color contrasts and pleasing designs both are important, he added.

Photography and commercial art are not completely at odds, he said, since more than half of commercial projects begin with a photograph, and both have their places in advertising.

He demonstrated in color photography in advertising, and stressed the need for quality work to keep pace with new inventions which must be advertised. Restraint in design is important, he said, since blank space adds distinction to the work.

MOSCOW, (AP)—Eighteen persons were killed in fire and marine accidents, dispatches from Archangel and Odessa reported today.

Eleven members of a hydrographic expedition drowned in Kandalaksha bay in the White Sea when a lifeboat sank.

Seven employees lost their lives in an explosion in a Soviet linen factory at Odessa. Ten others were seriously injured.

Science Plans to Make Bees More 'Gentle'

CINCINNATI, (AP)—Ultra-violet light, the rays that attract the sun-bathers, makes queen bees more prolific and their offspring more "gentle."

Prediction that this use of light will develop a new race of bees is made by Dr. I. A. Balinkin, of the University of Cincinnati physics department, in a bee industrial journal.

Honeybees which have remained unchanged for thousands of years, he says, are due to be "improved" by science.

SOFTBALL, WRESTLING
NEW GOLF LEAGUES
LUTZ IN SALINAS

Lawrence (Larry) Lutz, Santa Ana's all-America tackle, is working for an ice company in Salinas. . . . Larry will vacation here before returning to Berkeley and his new position as assistant football coach of the Bear frosh.

John Ward, Garden Grove mentor, is employed on the San Francisco bridge. . . . plans to work there until the approach of mid-August and his annual hunting trip with Bill Cook.

Golfing rivalry has been as keen as that developed in softball should result from Class A and B industrial leagues now being organized in Santa Ana.

Details will not be known until next week, when playing schedules for the divot-diggers are drafted. Class A competition will be from scratch. Handicaps will be used in Class B. Ten teams are being sought for each division.

Success is assured, what with the following firms already preparing their four-man entries.

Class B—Maine cafe, Tiernan Typewriter Co., Banks Huntley & Co., A. B. C. Distributors, Windsor club, of Huntington Beach, Pomeroy service station, Huntington Beach News and Mickey Walker's of Santa Ana.

Pro Vic Owen has set a record for making records at Willowick. Two weeks ago he added the No. 8 167-yard hole and the No. 18 194-yard one.

Yesterday he broke Willowick's course record with a 65. He shared the old mark of 66 with Dal Jeffers and Dick Lanare.

Par on the West Fifth street layout is 71.

Ben (Bono) Koral and Jimmy Coates received an invitation to escort their Tiernan Typists, Santa Ana's league-leading girls' softball nine, to Los Angeles tonight for a game with the "Spanish Senoritas," but could not accept because both are playing with the Stars against the New York Globe-Trotters, national negro champions, at the Municipal bowl. . . . Koral believes he can arrange another game in Los Angeles next week.

Best pun-of-the-month: "Stars fell on Al Baba." That was the Associated Press lead to the account of the Terrible Turk's defeat by Everett Marshall before 9,000 wrestling addicts in Columbus, O., this week.

Marshall twisted Al Baba's handlebar mustache, applied three full nelsons, and then finished the Turk with a body slam and a cross body pin. That weakened Al Baba's claims to the world's heavyweight crown but strengthened those of Marshall.

Marshall now plans to go after the other so-called champions at the "honey" Vincent Lopez, Danno O'Mahoney and Dave Levin.

Few Foes Rise to Threaten U.S. Supremacy in Hurdles

FOURTH IN A SERIES OF 10 DAILY STORIES

By ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK, (AP)—If even approximately duplicated in Berlin this August, the starting form manifest by our hurdlers, high and low, will suffice to beat anything the rest of the world has to offer in the Olympic games.

Such are the uncertainties, as well as the high percentage of mishaps in these scrambles over the barriers, that it is just as well not to wave the flag too brisquely in advance. One of the interim risks involved is the possibility some of our best hurdlers will come a cropper in the final tryouts.

The U. S. A. may leave just as much top-notch h-ring talent at home as it possibly can take abroad, with a limit of three hurdlers for the 110-meter high hurdles as well as the 400-meter lows.

Reading from west to south, the best high hurdling prospects are Phil Cope and Roy Staley of Southern California, Leroy Kirkpatrick of Santa Mateo Junior college, Sam Klopstock of Stanford, Sam Allen of Oklahoma Baptist, Al Moreau of Opelousas, La., and Forrest (Spec) Towns of Georgia.

If memory for succulent statistics serves, one and all of these agile young men have done 14.3 seconds or better for 110 meters. Cope, Staley and Towns have touched the world record time of 14.1 and repeated.

Towns the Sensation
Towns is the year's most startling development in hurling. Allen and Moreau, as well as Bowdoin's Phil Cope, have records for consistency that cannot be overlooked in the clutch. Kirkpatrick, say our coast observers, is about the stop-watch so long as they win. That is enough in itself to stamp Finlay as first-rate threat and potential Olympic winner. He's just one against the U. S. A., but South Africa's Steve Atkinson beat three Yankee finalists to the tape in 1928. So it can be done.

Set Record but Lost
Glenn Hardin's return to form, based on what he showed at Princeton, is the most encouraging development in the 400-meter field. The rangy Louisianan holds the Olympic as well as the world record, but has yet to win an Olympic title. Four years ago he trailed Ireland's Bob Tisdall to the finish, enjoying the consolation of having his time of 52 seconds accepted as a new Olympic record after Tisdall's mark of 51.8 was nullified by a tipped-over hurdle. This obvious inconsistency prompted the international authorities to rule henceforth that no penalty will be attached to knocking over the barriers. Clearly it's a harder trick to win or crack a record by tripping over the hurdles than it is otherwise.

Latest advances do not indicate Tisdall will defend the championship. He probably could not repeat over Hardin, anyway, and there appears no real foreign threat otherwise. So many hurdles decided this spring that the low hurdles offered a gateway to making the American team that there may be a traffic jam at Randall's island July 11-12.

California's Tom Moore, Michigan's Bob Osgood and Princeton's Jack Irwin head the list of prospective mates for Hardin.

A potential world champion. Some bright day one of these lads is going to do 14 flat over the high sticks and jar the athletic world as vigorously as young Don Lash did with his two-mile romp at Princeton in world record time.

Lest we become too patriotic on the subject, however, it is well to keep in mind that England has a young air officer named Donald Finlay who may show his heels to all our hurdlers. Finlay was third to the late George Saling of Iowa and Percy Beard, the world record-holder, in the 1932 Olympics. His best time is 14.3 in a country where they don't worry about the stop-watch so long as they win. That is enough in itself to stamp Finlay as first-rate threat and potential Olympic winner. He's just one against the U. S. A., but South Africa's Steve Atkinson beat three Yankee finalists to the tape in 1928. So it can be done.

So many hurdles decided this spring that the low hurdles offered a gateway to making the American team that there may be a traffic jam at Randall's island July 11-12.

California's Tom Moore, Michigan's Bob Osgood and Princeton's Jack Irwin head the list of prospective mates for Hardin.

A potential world champion. Some bright day one of these lads is going to do 14 flat over the high sticks and jar the athletic world as vigorously as young Don Lash did with his two-mile romp at Princeton in world record time.

Lest we become too patriotic on the subject, however, it is well to keep in mind that England has a young air officer named Donald Finlay who may show his heels to all our hurdlers. Finlay was third to the late George Saling of Iowa and Percy Beard, the world record-holder, in the 1932 Olympics. His best time is 14.3 in a country where they don't worry about the stop-watch so long as they win. That is enough in itself to stamp Finlay as first-rate threat and potential Olympic winner. He's just one against the U. S. A., but South Africa's Steve Atkinson beat three Yankee finalists to the tape in 1928. So it can be done.

Set Record but Lost
Glenn Hardin's return to form, based on what he showed at Princeton, is the most encouraging development in the 400-meter field. The rangy Louisianan holds the Olympic as well as the world record, but has yet to win an Olympic title. Four years ago he trailed Ireland's Bob Tisdall to the finish, enjoying the consolation of having his time of 52 seconds accepted as a new Olympic record after Tisdall's mark of 51.8 was nullified by a tipped-over hurdle. This obvious inconsistency prompted the international authorities to rule henceforth that no penalty will be attached to knocking over the barriers. Clearly it's a harder trick to win or crack a record by tripping over the hurdles than it is otherwise.

Latest advances do not indicate Tisdall will defend the championship. He probably could not repeat over Hardin, anyway, and there appears no real foreign threat otherwise. ## THREE BOUTS TOP FIGHTS TONIGHT

Rowan Trades Punches With Ledford; Vargas Mixes With Boyd

Don Benzor, the former Anaheim featherweight, who has successfully invaded the lightweight division in the amateur ranks, goes smack into the driver's seat at the Orange County Athletic club tonight against "Wildcat" Ernie Carter of San Bernardino in the four-round feature.

Carter, fresh from a long string of triumphs, two of which were scored at the expense of Roaul Solis of Santa Ana, is rated so high and so promising that his handlers intend to turn him into the next few weeks if he defeats Benzor.

Benzor Confident
Eddie Rice, Carter's manager, asserts that the Wildcat is being shoved around and that he can't get fights as an amateur, so there is nothing to do save turn to the professional ring for work.

Benzor may upset their plans. Don is confident and past performance points to several upsets in which he figured. As a feather he was one of the few boys to beat Lupe Cardozo.

Three—possibly four—of the other fights on the card rate as highly as the main event, with Clay Rowan, Alabama champion, and a protege of Romeo LeMon, the former professional fighter from Fullerton, mixing with Larry Ledford of Ontario, and Wild Bill Boyd, another Ontario scrapper, tangling in four rounds with Ray Vargas, the kayo kid from Atwood.

White vs. Thomas
Vargas has come along faster than any fighter ever developed in the Orange county ring. In his first amateur fight he took on the experienced Ken Holiday and belted the latter out in less than two minutes and last week his second amateur start, kayoed his foe in three rounds.

Wild Bill White, lightweight main eventer from Ontario, meets an old rival in T. N. T. Thomas in another attractive match, while the colorful Dick Robbins takes on Ralph Morales, Danny Moreno and Johnny Chavez, Julio Martinez vs. Jimmy Merced and Art Blanco vs. Clon Barry completes the card, which gets under way promptly at 8:30.

The Green Cats, runners-up, shaded the Smith-Coronans, 8 to 7, in the second feature, although they were outthit, 11 to 7, with the Misses Edith Armfield, Boyd, Giddings, Stevens and Peterson earning two bingles each. Ruth Lee, first-baseman, shone for the cat girls with a triple, double and a single in four trials. Phyllis Farquhar, catcher, hit a triple, single and drew a walk, and Pete Harper drew two walks and drove out a double and a single.

Ruth Scroggins, leftfielder, and Bobbie Wakeham, pitcher, gathered three hits apiece for the Green Cats, who outslugged the "hello girls" 15 to 6. Five of the other players hit safely twice.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

By RACHEL E. POWELL
(Battling for Gains)

Motorists and pedestrians are not the only ones in Orange that are joyful that the paving around the Plaza is almost done. Last Saturday night merchants sat in gloom in their almost empty stores and yearned for the days before the streets were torn up, when parking spaces were scarcer than dodos, and the voice of the cash register was heard until closing time.

But every load of asphalt and every chug of the steam roller brings the end a little nearer, and smiles are beginning to replace woe-begone expressions. One-half of the Plaza circle and half of North and South Glassell streets, as well as East and West Chapman avenue are completed, and by the time this appears it is quite likely that all of the asphalt will be poured. Only the process of smoothing out high and low places will then remain to be done.

As the city is noted for its Plaza, the Orange council decided that a little more of the same would make the town even more attractive so the unusable corners of the square surrounding the Plaza circle are to be planted with flowers and shrubs. Some of the firms whose entrances face these corners are objecting to the idea. Perhaps they think that people will be too busy admiring the pretty flowers to see their business signs. However the place might prove useful. Imagine having a nice bush in front of your door in which to hide if you saw someone coming who did not wish to see.

The idea of planting these corners is not original with the present city dais. It was learned on good authority. Charlie Meadows, an Orange printer, who passed away several years ago, suggested the plan about seven years back. He even presented the council of that period with complete plans and specifications for the planting. But no action was taken, as it was deemed too expensive. There was no depression then and so the public could not afford to either plant flowers or take time to smell them.

The formal dedication of the paving will take place July 10, at 8 o'clock in the evening in the Plaza. Harry A. Hopkins, Taft, chairman of the state highway commission, will be present, as well as a number of other state officials. Preceding the dedication a 6:30 dinner, sponsored by the city, will be served, at a place yet to be determined.

Since plazas seem to be the topic of this column, it might be well to remind the old timers that Orange once had two of them. The second one was located at Washington and South Glassell streets, and was the center of a residential district laid out by Charles Z. Kogler, who owned the tract and promoted the idea. All of this happened about 40 years ago, but as the traveling public grew tired of going around two plazas, the streets were straightened, and the plaza disappeared.

Speaking of celebrating, the American Legion post and auxiliary of Orange are planning a big one for the latter part of July. For at that time they will burn the mortgage on the building. The article was built in 1928, and since that time both the post and auxiliary have worked steadily to reduce the debt. Not only does the building serve the two organizations mentioned, but it is the meeting place for the National Guards, Boy Scouts, Rotary and Lions clubs. During past Professional Women met there, and almost every week it is used for some social gathering sponsored by either a club or private group. It is rumored that all who have had a part in paying off this debt will be invited to the party.

We think Skinny Skirvin started something when he made the first page dressed in shorts. Because Monday, when we entered the city building to ascertain which police officer had arrested who and what for, the ears were assaulted by a chorus of, "Where are the shorts?" "What shorts?" we inquire in surprise. "We thought that every one who worked for The Journal had to wear shorts," explained Police Chief George Franzén. Affirming with firmness that such is not the case, and that at least the habit has not spread to the ranks of the correspondents (so far as we know) we watched disappointment spread over the countenances of the force. We can't all have a "figger" like Skinny.

Miss Myrtle Shafer, deputy city clerk, wished that backless dresses were approved for office wear, this week, as she tried to grin and bear a rosy sunburn.

Two Orange county judges, both widowers, were heard discussing the good qualities of their auto-

San Diegan Visits In Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE.—Mrs. Mary Upton, San Diego, arrived Friday for a several days' visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Holt and children, Kenneth and Jean, and Miss Lova Holt arrived home Sunday evening from a two weeks vacation stay at Mineral King. Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Henry returned Friday from a week's trip to San Francisco made in company with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hardy of Fullerton, who attended the druggists convention held there.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Johnson have as their houseguests, the latter's brother, J. W. Pratt of Shawnee, Okla., who arrived the last of the week and plans to remain for the summer.

mobles. Said judge Number 1, "I tell you that cur of mine has the best pickup of any car I ever drove," said judge Number 2, "Yes sir, I noticed that. I saw it pickup two widows in one block the other day."

What, no fish? Imagine Brick dusted with a single fish! No, it can't be done, so enter the fish. It is a large sea bass, caught by Otto Scharar's fishing party last Sunday. Although the lead was played by the sea bass, he was supported by a complete cast of smaller sea bass and a chorus of barracuda.

The fish were all "brought out" quite safely by the ladies of the party. Mrs. George Carlson, Mrs. Ernest Stork, and Mrs. Otto Scharar. The husbands who were old time fishermen, did not get a single fish. Miss Ruth Scharar, daughter of the host and hostess, was also in the party.

And yesterday, Dr. Robert Burns McAlay, outgoing president of the Rotary club, A. Haven Smith, principal of the high school, and Wade Filpen endeavored to lure a few more of the finny tribe from their native habitat. At the time of writing the score was not in, so whether or not they had fish for dinner is mere guesswork.

Library Building Is Offered City of Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH.—An offer for the city to take over the title of ownership to the library building located on First street was submitted last night to the city council by the Laguna Beach Library Association, owner of the property. A mortgage of $1000 is against the property. The offer was taken under consideration and it was decided to have the council, as a committee of the whole, meet with a special committee of the library association.

With approval and consent of property owners, the council ordered El Paseo closed from July 27 to Aug. 4, the thoroughfare to be used as a site for the forthcoming Festival of Arts.

The matter of naming the personnel of a city planning commission was deferred until the next regular meeting of the council.

++ County's Artists ++

Louis Danz Reputation Gained as Wisecracker on Modern Art

(Laguna Beach is not the only spot in our county that boasts its artistic citizens. In other parts of the county live those who are doing exceptional work outside of the beachside art colony. Some of these will be introduced from time to time in The Journal. Today Louis Danz and his work are described.)

By MRS. L. B. SMALLEY

Louis Danz is a hard man to interview. Here, there and everywhere most of the time, he is just now in Paris, but at the same time is listed among Orange county's artists, because he hails from Anaheim.

Music and art are combined in his make-up. Soon after starting a music store in Anaheim the art colony in Laguna began to take shape and he joined the gang, lecturing on art to Ebull clubs, Friday afternoon clubs, and groups from San Diego to San Francisco. He gained a reputation as a brilliant wisecracker on the ultra-modern trend in art.

So inseparably related are music and art it would be difficult to consider either alone. The movies did the same thing to pictures by adding sound.

"Floating Peril"

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

CHAPTER 43

He rose quickly to his feet. She held his wrist. They both listened. Coming up the winding avenue they could hear the engine throbs of a high-powered car, the scurrying of gravel thrown away at the curves, then they saw the flashing of lights through the shrubs.

"Wait, Armand," she begged. "Here comes news of some sort."

The two men who hurried out on to the terrace, ushered there by Raymond with an entire lack of ceremony, were easily recognizable. There was Monsieur Vigon, the Mayor of Antibes, and by his side, a step or two already in front of him—for Monsieur Vigon had eaten of many banquets and was inclined to be obese—came Sarciron, the local head of police.

"We have disturbing news, sir, from below," Raymond said quickly. "Monsieur Sarciron, please make your report."

Sarciron wasted no words. "Mademoiselle Tanya, the danseuse," he announced, "who is perhaps the most dangerous figure amongst the Communists of the south here is giving an extraordinary reception and dinner given on the terrace."

"Twenty or thirty leaders of the party have come over from Marseilles in an autobus and all the leaders in this district from Cannes to Menton, and some few even from Lyons have arrived. There are a hundred of them feasting there below and they seem to have some purpose. A report I have just received. General, do you think every one of them is armed?"

"A dinner, eh? A feast?" the General exclaimed. "They sing—dance? They seem jovial?"

"They do nothing but sing the 'Red March,'" Sarciron declared. "They mean mischief if ever a hundred men did mean mischief. They have left the scum behind. These are strong men we have to deal with."

"How many gendarmes can you send down to the terrace?" the General asked quickly.

"Writing materials, Raymond, quickly. No, write yourself. Bring me the paper to sign. Write to Colonel Dupresson, or the commanding officer in charge of the Chassurs Alpins at Antibes. Ask him to dispatch 100 to 200 fully armed men, properly detailed on motor bicycles or in cars, to the terrace here without a moment's delay. Write a similar letter to General Fausson at Nice, but send the message to Antibes first."

Raymond shot away into the darkness. Perissol lifted the telephone which stood upon the table and spoke to the house. Presently a young man of disturbed appearance hurried out.

"I am very sorry to report, sir," he announced, "that the private telephone service which we had established between the Fidelity and this villa has been tampered with."

"Tampered with?" the General repeated.

"The wire is quite dead," the young man replied. "It has certainly been cut."

"Go to the nearest point of the place," Perissol ordered. "Swim

NAME TWO ON L. B. SCHOOL BOARD

Laguna Beach Unified School District

LAGUNA BEACH.—Organization of the new board of education, composed of five members, administering the affairs of "Laguna Beach Unified School District," was completed last night. New members, appointed by County Superintendent Ray Adkinson, are Ajax Wolf, property owner, and Carl Benson, plumbing contractor. The other three members are William J. Harris, Mrs. Ona Sortwell, and Dr. Vincent P. Carroll.

Harris was elected president of the board, and Ajax Wolf will serve as clerk. The first Wednesday evening of the month was the time set for regular meetings.

It was decided to erect once around the high school athletic field if WPA labor could be secured for the work. The need of securing another truck was also discussed. Reports on progress of construction revealed that it is expected to have the new grammar school addition ready for occupation some time next October.

Play to Go on July 10 and 11

LAGUNA BEACH.—Samuel L. Pierce, well known Laguna Beach stage and radio artist, who is taking a vacation here from Hollywood, will play the lead in "Service for Two," a comedy in three acts, to be presented here July 10 and 11 by the Laguna Beach Community Players.

The production is directed by Elizabeth Pierce. Other members of the cast are Betty Monahan, Barbara Reed, Doreen Pilling, David Monahan, Charles Radford and Charlotte Frost.

row to the Fidelity and report. I shall send another messenger in case of accident. Ask them to fill their pinnace with as many fighting units as the ship can afford—fully armed. Tell the commander, with my compliments, that we are expecting an attack upon the Bird of Paradise by a gang of Communists. Order the car as you go out."

The General took brusque leave of everybody.

"Louise," he directed, "you remain here. Monsieur Le Maire, if there is any sort of an armed force you can muster at Antibes send them along, otherwise there is nothing you can do. Sarciron, back like hell and bring all the gendarmes you can. Have your people telephone the alarm to J. An. Let it be understood that this is no ordinary Communist after-dinner riot. It is a serious affair with a serious object and every Frenchman who refuses to serve the best of the law is asking for trouble. Spread that everywhere. What the mischief's that?"

From down below in the bay came the loud booming of a gun. Almost immediately afterwards a strange sort of darkness seemed to hang over the bay. Louise ran lightly to the end of the terrace and jumped on the parapet. She turned around—a shrouded, almost indistinguishable figure.

"The searchlights on the Fidelity have stopped!" he cried.

Hamer Wildburn, with the great headlights of his Panhard coupe flaming, swung around the last corner into the Garoupe lane which led to the terrace and then jammed on his brakes furiously. Twenty or thirty men were standing in the dusk swinging a lantern or torch. A shower of pebbles flew up. He skidded slightly but recovered. Finally he brought the car to a standstill within a few feet of the man in the road.

"What the devil—" he began.

Then he stopped. The man was well enough known to him, one of the staff at the bathing beach who waited on him day by day. Something in his expression checked Hamer's outburst.

"What is it?" the latter demanded, leaning a little wearily over the wheel. "What's wrong, Pierre?"

The man put a foot upon the step and held on to the dashboard. "It is impossible to say what is wrong, Monsieur," he said, "but you should keep away. If you must return to your boat tonight, go to the chateau landing stage and borrow a dinghy from there."

"Why on earth should I put myself to all that trouble?" Hamer asked in astonishment.

The man tightened his grip upon the car.

"Monsieur," he confided, "there's bad business on at the place. That is my belief, for all the gaiety and the popping of corks and the crowd of people. They have shoved me off, the Crestners have. They do not wish me around tonight. They will not have any of the regular staff. They have driven us out without dinner or excuse."

Hamer was as tired as any man might who had driven 500 kilometers without stopping from a plane that lay smashed to pieces in a ditch, and a pilot on his way to the hospital with a broken leg. He leaned forward to one of the pockets of the car, drew out a flask and took a drink of whisky.

"Try and explain, Pierre," he begged. "I shall be better able to ask you questions in a moment."

"It's that young dancing woman that been creating such a furor at Juan-les-Pins," Pierre explained. "She's giving a huge party tonight. Crestners are not receiving any other guests and they've had to order 20 or 30 more tables. Nearly all the people have come from a distance, and, Monsieur, they're a wicked crowd or I never saw one. Forty came from Marseilles in one auto-bus. They looked like cut-throats, and the lot from Nice weren't much better."

"Well, I don't suppose they'll stop me getting on my boat," Hamer observed.

"That I know they mean to do," was the emphatic warning. "There four of them standing in that little opening, and sacred to serve the best of the law is asking for trouble. Spread that everywhere. What the mischief's that?"

"So I am the unpunished person, am I?" Hamer exclaimed.

"I don't know what they want," Pierre answered, "but I do know the order is that if you come you are to be stopped. What's to happen to you I don't know, but you are not to be allowed on your boat."

"Have any of them gone on board?" Hamer asked.

"A boatload," the man replied, "and it seemed to me there was another boatload getting ready when I left. This is not like the other night, when you threw them young gentlemen into the sea. That was more or less of a lark, I expect. There's no lark about this. You know what sort of people these are?"

"How the devil should I?" Hamer asked.

"Well, I'll tell you," Communists—

Superior Judge James L. Allen yesterday decided that the Newport Harbor Yacht club was not responsible for damage done to Claude G. Putnam's yacht, Milura, when it broke loose from moorings in October, 1935. He denied Putnam's request for $617 damages.

Putnam had claimed the yacht club improperly maintained a mooring he rented from the club.

OPERETTA ON RADIO HERE TONIGHT

45-Minute Production of 'Trial by Jury' on KVOE at 8

The well known operetta, "Trial by Jury," by Gilbert and Sullivan, their first successful musical comedy, will be heard on KVOE tonight beginning at 8 o'clock as presented by the D'Oyly Carte Opera company under the direction of Rupert D'Oyly Carte, son of the famous impresario who first presented the operetta. It was given to the public for the first time in 1875 and preceded such famous operettas by Gilbert and Sullivan as "The Mikado," "H. M. S. Pinafore," "The Pirates of Penzance" and others that have found their niches in the hall of fame. The presentation will require 45 minutes.

"Boston Ships and California Bank Notes" is the topic of this evening's educational historical research project broadcast to be made from KVOE at 5:30 by W. W. Wieman, principal of the Lathrop Evening High school, and members of the research project. The broadcast will recount the trade in Southern California and Orange county in 1830 and 1840 when ships from Boston were the main source of merchandise and took in trade "California Bank Notes" or cowbills. These broadcasts, scheduled every Thursday at the same hour, are made in cooperation with and under the auspices of the Santa Ana city schools.

Original compositions, variety tunes and novel songs will comprise tonight's presentation by the Sons of the Pioneers at 6:45. Selections by this group will include Bob Nolan's composition, "Covered Wagon Roll Me On," Stephen Foster's "Oh, Lemuel," the old-timer, "Jim Crack Corn," and a fast instrumental number called "Tom and Jerry."

The artists recital bureau of the WPA will present a 15-minute program of vocal and violin selections at 8 o'clock tonight to include "Ah! Love But a Day" and "Return" as sung by Kathleen Christianman; "La Capricieuse," Elgar, violin solo by Walter Eisenberg; "I Heard You Go By," David Wood, and "Thou Art So Like a Flower" by Chadwick, as sung by Terry Horne, tenor.

Alert Eyes Send Two to Prison

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—The alert eyes of an unidentified San Jose resident were credited in federal court here yesterday for the apprehension of two postoffice robbers who received prison terms from Judge Harold Louderback.

The men, Frank Thomas, 25, and Carroll W. Sonnicksen, 26, both former San Quentin convicts, pleaded guilty to a charge of robbing a postoffice substitution in a drug store here. Thomas was given a sentence of 18 months, and Sonnicksen, 16 months.

F. W. Spencer, a postoffice inspector, said information which resulted in their arrest came from a San Jose resident. Sonnicksen and an unidentified companion were observed there under suspicious circumstances by a man who obtained the license number of their automobile. Subsequently, the postoffice station here was robbed and from the tip provided in San Jose, Sonnicksen was arrested and admitted the federal offense and implicated Thomas.

SANTA ANA DEMOCRATS LAUNCH DRIVE TO REELECT ROOSEVELT

DOWNING IS PICKED AS LEADER

Head, McKinney Refuse Nomination at Big Local Rally

Santa Ana Democrats last night launched their campaign for re-election of President Franklin D. Roosevelt by forming an "On With Roosevelt" club following a dinner and rally at American Legion hall.

Declaring that "Washington is a terrible place for an inexperienced man," Col. Jerome F. Sears of Santa Monica, former state director of the National Emergency council, urged the group to consider the election like hiring an employee for a job.

Downing President "Re-elect your President," he urged.

Clyde Downing, former Santa Ana city attorney, was elected president of the club; Mrs. Nellie Stroh, vice president, and C. W. (Pop) Hill, secretary-treasurer. Horace C. Head and B. Z. McKinney declined nomination for the club presidency.

Judge John G. Mitchell, chairman of the Orange county Democratic central committee, was chairman of the rally. The Rev. C. M. Aker, pastor of Santa Ana Methodist Episcopal church, South, gave the invocation.

Two Orange county contributions to campaign music featured the session: a parody on the Republican chant of "Three Long Years," written by Mrs. Hodges Shaw of Garden Grove, and "Mr. Roosevelt's the Man," by R. G. Chambers and Vladimir Lenski of Costa Mesa.

Hillbillies Play Miss Florence Newman of Los Angeles sang the latter, accompanied by Idell Moye, president of the Southwestern College of Music. Foy's Hillbillies played during the dinner hour.

H. C. Head, master of ceremonies, introduced members of the county central committee and candidates for Democratic nominations for congress, state senate, and state assembly, at the same time scoring Congressman Sam Collins, a Republican, for filing also on the Democratic ticket.

Col. Sears, analyzing Roosevelt and Landon as he said, he analyzed figures in his accounting work, found both university graduates, students of law, family men, and experienced as state legislators and governors.

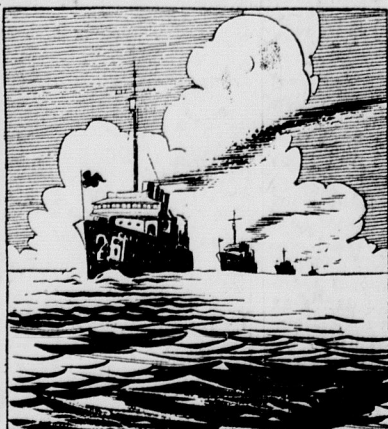

Alphabetical agencies, Col. Sears declared, were created because congress in 1933 declared an emergency and will be withdrawn when the emergency is declared past. "Don't worry about the Constitution," he declared. "It will still be there."

WHEAT SURPLUS SMALL WASHINGTON, (AP)—The world wheat surplus was estimated by the bureau of agricultural economics at 388,000,000 bushels—the smallest in nine years.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT: From Hyde Park to the White House

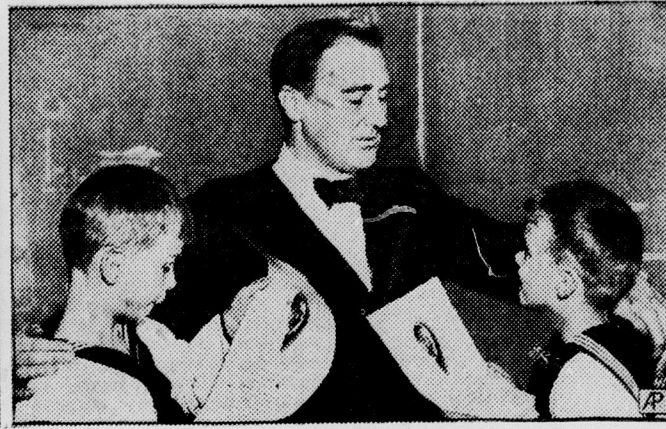

Young Franklin D. Roosevelt got his first taste of federal service early in 1913 when he came to Washington as assistant secretary of the navy a few days after the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson. He had loved the sea, sailing his own boats along the New England coast, collecting rare navel prints and ship models. The job suited him well.

War, coming when the assistant secretary was 35, gave Roosevelt a chance to show the country how he could stand up under the heavy pressure of official duties in time of stress. He organized the coast patrol, sent submarine chasers to Europe, frequently was acting secretary of the navy.

From July, 1918, until September, Roosevelt was in charge of inspecting American naval forces in European waters. The photograph above was snapped during a trip to the front, in the Maastricht, near Paris, to examine a wrecked German naval gun base. After the armistice it was his job to demobilize American naval stations and bases abroad and to eliminate from the navy's lists many vessels hastily acquired for the conflict. He gained wide experience.

Roosevelt had attracted sufficient attention by his work in Albany and Washington to win in 1918 an offer of Tammany support if he cared to run for the governorship of New York. The bid came while he was inspecting naval forces abroad. He declined. The busy war days had left him little time for his growing family and he welcomed the freedom that came with his temporary retirement from public life in 1920. Shown with him shortly afterward are two of his sons, Franklin (left) and John.

JANITORS TO RETIRE AT SEVENTY

Three Santa Ana school janitors went into retirement yesterday and a fourth went on half-time work as the result of the decision of the board of education last week to retire such employees who are more than 70 years of age.

Those retiring as the order became effective July 1 were Charles H. Dean of Jefferson school, Olaf Erickson of Fremont school, and C. W. Collins of the junior college. F. M. Feighner of the high school was placed on half-time work. The four are the only ones of from 40 to 45 non-certified employees who came under the age classification in the order.

Gorge Newcom, school business manager, pointed out that the retirement is in line with the regular policy of automatic retirement of teachers at 65 years. Without formally voting such a policy, board members indicated 70 years will be regarded as automatic retirement age for school custodians and other non-certified employees.

Janitors do not qualify for pensions when retired. Teachers who have served for 30 years may retire on pensions paid from a state fund to which they contribute.

Federal Writers Busy With Guide for Orange County

Work on the Orange county section of "The American Guide," encyclopedic publication of the federal writers' project, is progressing rapidly, Ted N. Burrell, local editor-director of the work, said today.

"The American Guide," which will be vastly more elaborate and detailed than any guide hitherto published by a firm or city, will occupy five volumes of 600 pages each, covering the entire United States.

Among the subjects covered by the local staff are general topography, flora and fauna, historical settings and backgrounds, Indians, archaeological remains, parks, armories, monuments and landmarks, literature, art, music, drama, libraries and museums, educational facilities, societies and associations, important buildings, ethnography, folk customs and folklore, highways, power, natural resources, transportation facilities. Complete coverage on Orange county will be included in the national publication as well as in the state guide and in various city guides prepared for Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton, Orange and other communities. The local guide will supply a need that has not been adequately met by existing compilations even in the older cities. All materials for the preparation of local guides will bear the stamp of authenticity placed on them by federal experts.

"The Orange county section of the publication will attract interest to this section throughout the nation," Burrell said. It has been estimated that several hundred thousand words have been written on Orange county for the publication.

CONVENTION REVIEWED AT CLUB

Echoes from the Philadelphia convention, with a few sidelights from Cleveland, were brought to the Breakfast club this morning by "Ole Gran Pappie Riggs" Floyd Stewart, who wasn't near either one. It now is on the grounds of the Bowers museum in Santa Ana.

Anniversary Finds Pair Apart

Mrs. J. A. Lyon Visits Georgia Relatives This Summer

Celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary in July 1935, their fifty-first this year finds Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lyon, former Santa Anans, miles apart.

Mrs. Lyon left a week ago for a summer in Atlanta, Ga., where she is visiting with her brothers and sisters whom she has not seen for thirty years; and Mr. Lyon is fishing up north of Atlanta in Northern California. They will celebrate the anniversary in the fall when Mrs. Lyon returns home.

The Lyons were married in Atlanta in 1885, homesteaded in Oklahoma, and later came to California, settling first in the Coahuila valley and 15 years ago in Orange county. Their golden wedding last year was the occasion for a gala celebration with their families here and a bright spot in the memories of their many friends.

During the past several years, the couple have spent their winters in the valley near Palm Springs, coming up here when the weather becomes warm each summer and maintaining their wide circle of acquaintances in the city.

Two of their sons, Orval and Roy, live in Orange county, the former managing the Goodrich store here and the latter residing at Balboa Beach.

DUNTONS HOSTS AT SERIES OF HOUSE PARTIES

The George Dunton family's two-week stay on Catalina Island, from which they returned Tuesday night, was filled with gay house parties at which Mr. and Mrs. Dunton, their daughter, Betty, and their sons, George and Billy, took turns entertaining.

During the first four days, Miss Betty, who is a graduate this year from Pomona college, entertained four of her college friends, including Miss Caroline Van Dolah of Peoria, Ill., who returns next year for her senior year at college; and Charles Longacre of Lindsay, Calif., and Clifford and Roy Smith of San Bernardino, all graduates this year.

Mrs. Paul Hales, daughter of the Duntons, spent the two weeks with them, and Mrs. Dunton also entertained during the first week her mother, Mrs. Florence Matthews, and her brother, Walter Matthews of this city.

Other guests for part of the vacation were Mrs. Dow Carpenter and son, Dow, Jr., of Beverly Hills, sister and nephew of Mrs. Dunton; and Roger Engel of Santa Ana, who was a guest of George Dunton.

MRS. TURNER PLANS TRIP

Mrs. Ashby Turner of 718 Grand avenue is departing soon for an interesting summer of traveling, planning among other trips an extended visit with her sister in Santa Fe, N. M.

She will spend three weeks first in Los Angeles, and also has a number of other short trips in mind for the three-months vacation.

The Turners have sublet their home to Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Barnes for the period of Mrs. Turner's absence. Mr. Turner will remain in Santa Ana, where he has his business.

Work among the negroes will be the subject for study during the ensuing year, Mrs. H. W. Guthrie announced. She spoke of the work of Mr. and Mrs. O'Vall, guests at her home recently. The couple is aided in their Ransburg activities by the local missionary groups.

Mrs. S. E. Hearne, president of the hostess organization, conducted a short business session, announcing that expenses would be paid for a week at Queen Esther camp at Idyllwild for Mary Ruth Ferris, George Randall, Pauline Williams and Vivian Vale.

Other reports revealed that $50 was contributed during the past year to the Girls Golden year fund; that a Santa Ana girl had been placed in the David and Margaret home, and that seven girls had been placed from the Frances De Pauw home.

The recent missionary society convention in Riverside was reported upon by Mesdames Anna Allen and Lynwood, and Miss Mary Lamb. Mrs. Sheldon, branch officer, congratulated the organization upon its summer meetings.

A gift was presented to the Mrs. Carhart, who plans to leave later this month for an eastern vacation. After voting to hold the joint meeting in similar fashion as an annual event, the organization adjourned until September.

After closing their church year with a pretty floral ceremony symbolic of the "garden of good deeds" established during the past term, the Women's society of the First Baptist church installed new officers yesterday at the church.

Miss Lula Minter was installed as president; Mesdames H. S. Harlow, J. J. Vernon, L. R. Stearns, R. C. McBurney, Clyde Cave, E. A. Mrs. J. P. Greene conducted the memorial service for members who died during the past year, placing a pink rose bud in a basket of blue flowers as she read each name.

The ceremony closing the year took place against a garden background arranged by Mrs. C. A. Harp, who entered with a "gany basket, emblematical of thoughts, in which each report was placed.

Each officer had selected a flower whose meaning applied to her work. The blossoms were placed in the garden as reports were read. The officers then filed out, the president closed the gate on the year's work, and Mrs. Williams sang "Thank God for a Garden."

Mrs. H. E. Owings, honorary president, then installed new officers, presenting each with an arm bouquet of gladioli. Miss Minter received two baskets of flowers.

Mary Stoddard Develop Methods to Suit Your Personality, Don't Copy From Movie Manners

By MARY STODDARD

Another girl who knows how to be modern without sacrificing her ideals, contributes advice from her experience, to help "Miss Twenty" who likes the friendship of young men but feels cheapened by their attempts at familiarity.

Dear Miss Stoddard: This is in answer to your letter from "Miss Twenty," who wants to know how to keep her boy friends from being "fresh" and yet be good friends. She should first be sure she wants that type of man to keep coming back even just "for a friend."

If she is interested in the young men, there are several ways of stopping their unwelcome attentions. Granted that most men want to know just exactly what a girl is like, I still insist that after "Miss Twenty" gives them a good idea, they will stop their "familiarities."

The old story about, "How would you like a man to treat your sister?" just doesn't work. Try being frank and honest with the man of the moment. Ask him just exactly what kind of a girl he thinks you are. If you get the wrong answer there, I'm sure you don't want to continue with this friendship.

Ask him what he is looking for in a girl. He will probably tell you and I've found that any worthwhile man wants the right kind of a girl.

There's another way of stopping them, too. Develop that inquiring look. Just watch them rather quizzically and you'll stop them every time if you make it intense enough. Even in the dark that will work after you've practiced it long enough, they can feel it. But for heaven's sake make it suit your personality; don't copy it from the movies.

Don't forget, however, "You can't have your cake and eat it, too!" If you want to remain friends with the type of man who insists upon being too familiar, you will have to expect it. But if you just want to be "pals" with a man, try asking him about his ambitions, his family, his work, etc. That will stop any I've ever met!

MODERN TOO.
Uncompromising is the comment of a young man of 20—he says: "I'd rather have a girl friend who has a good personality, a neat appearance and virtuous than 20 of the kind that pet!"

Dear Miss Stoddard: I am also 20, but a boy. She has the right idea about petting. A girl does not have to pet to be popular, because if a boy has any consideration for the girl he will not want to pet unless he puts an engagement ring on her finger.

I can also tell "Miss Twenty" that boys do not appreciate or respect a girl who is easy to kiss and who indulges in that sort of pastime all of the time.

In my way of estimation, if a girl can put it over to the boy that she does not want to be kissed, he will think this over and will respect her much more. I think if a girl does not pet at all she would be called a wet blanket by some. A good-night kiss is all right, but it can be overdone and leaving at four o'clock for home, they stopped for an evening call on other friends, Mr. and Mrs. Norgaard, in Sawtelle, returning to Santa Ana at a late hour last night.

Tomorrow, Mr. and Mrs. Birt and their two sons, John and Maurice, and Miss Lucile Stokes of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. William Jaeger and Miss Sylvia Comb of Los Angeles will go up to Trabuco canyon and will spend the week-end in the Zimmerman canyon.

At 6:30 o'clock tonight, the Luther league will meet for an outdoor picnic dinner in the gardens of the Karen Sorensen home, 820 South Van Ness avenue.

Miss Wilma Zentner heads the hostess committee. Plans will be made for summer league activities, following a surprise program.

Compliment Miss Rhoem At Party

Finely wrought and conveying the good wishes of officers of Santa Ana chapter, Order of Eastern Star, an elaborate lace tablecloth was presented last night to Miss Elizabeth Rhoem, who is to be married Sunday to Lieut. Godfrey Speich.

Miss Rhoem was honored by fellow officers during monthly card party of the group, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Adrain, 808 South Garvey street.

Hosts with the Adraims were Mr. and Mrs. John Garthe, who assisted in planning decorations carrying out a Fourth of July motif in the home and at small refreshment tables.

Early in the evening, auction bridge was played, with score prizes being presented at the conclusion of play to Miss Rhoem, Mrs. Paul Cozad, Don Edwards and Glen Lycan.

Eastern Star officers and guests present included Messrs. and Mesdames John Bruns, Glen Lycan, Courtney Chandler, Al Chaff, Don Edwards, Mesdames Sue Henry, Max Gowdy, Claude McFarren, Ed Morse, Paul Cozad, Miss Rhoem and the two host couples.

MINNESOTA FRIENDS GATHER

Mrs. Ella Stowe, Mrs. Hattie Stowe, Mrs. Etta Sweet and Mrs. Edith Getty, old-time friends of Mrs. Nannie Belle Lester of 1121 North Symont, all formerly of Fairmont, Minn., gathered for a "st-luck dinner" recently in Mrs. Lester's home here, a get-together before their hostess departs for the east.

Mrs. Lester plans to leave early in August for a visit with her daughter in Minneapolis, and on the way expects to visit friends in Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane. Before her return to California, she will spend some time in Fairmont and Blue Earth, Minn.

RAGANS RETURN FROM CATALINA

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ragan of 1320 Martha Lane returned home Tuesday from a ten-day stay at Catalina island, where they enjoyed delightful weather. Their two sons, Bruce and Terry, who have been at Camp Osceola for two weeks, were expected home today, reuniting the family before the Fourth.

sometimes leads to bitter consequences. "Miss Twenty" has the wrong idea about boys who want to do things which they know and she knows is wrong. A girl should have will power and not allow her boy friends to become too familiar. Girls, by being too affectionate, give their boy friends the wrong opinion of them.

I'd much rather have a girl friend who has a good personality, is of neat appearance and virtuous than 20 of the kind that pet.

Spine Key To Entire Skeleton

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M. D.

The major arrangement of units in the frame work of our bodies is the articulated string of segments down the back. It is the spinal column and is the keystone of the structure because our entire bodily health depends upon its proportions and behavior.

It should make quite a straight line from side to side, but from front to back there may normally be two moderate curves at the shoulders and at the waist line. The neck segments, or cervical vertebrae, should be very straight up and down. They are seven in number, smaller and smoother than the lower units, so that the head may turn freely from side to side.

Nothing adds more to one's dignity and poise than a well-shaped and well-carried head.

We think sometimes that our children are getting bigger than we are. Most youngsters today indulge in some form of gymnastics, running and skating, tennis and volleyball. This stretches these ligaments and muscles, and keeps the padded cushions of the joint tissues limbered up.

Now, let's turn again to our backbone. Below the shoulder line, the dorsal vertebrae begin—twelve of them. They must curve out somewhat because the lungs and heart need room. These segments also play freely against each other, but in order to give space to hunch on to and brace the large number of muscles we need, these segments have projections we call "spines."

At the lower end of this column are five sections called lumbar vertebrae.

The entire column sits firmly, if it has developed properly, in the sacrum or the angle of the pelvis, the large bowl of bony substance which holds the abdominal organs. This portion is rigid but the spine ends with the small bones of the coccyx or tail.

Now that you have the "main stem," stick on the top a cranium of eight bones for the head and of sixteen for the face, a rim for the collar bone and projections for the arms and a barrel of a dozen ribs for holding the heart and lungs and for housing the large blood vessels. Dangle some hinged long bones to the lower pelvis for legs and you have just the beginning of the creature we are expected to know all about when you get "that tired feeling" or a pain in your back.

FOR ICED DRINKS

Both tea and coffee for iced should be made twice as strong as ordinarily because the melting ice dilutes the drinks at least one-half. That means twice as much tea and coffee must be used to make the infusion. The steeping and percolating periods are as usual.

SUGGESTS:

INVENTING THE MEAL FOR THE UNEXPECTED GUEST
We all know what it is to have people drop in at mealtime, and we say, in our very best manner, "Won't you stay to dinner?" And sometimes we mean it, and sometimes we don't entirely, and they always stay! And then what do we do? The thing to do always, of course, is to have a dependable emergency shelf from which to draw.

There's nothing like a little showmanship when there isn't so much to eat. You know what I mean. Corned beef, well—corned beef! But sliced very thin and served in a ring around a heap of snowy rice, with small tomatoes stuffed with grated hard-cooked egg forming a ring round the edge of the platter, is a meat fit for a king.

During the summer, of course, there's always salad. Russian salad, which started out in life at a swanky hotel, uses up all sorts of odds and ends, and no one's the wiser. Various greens—lettuce, uncooked spinach, escarole and endive are tossed around in a sharp French dressing with bits of vegetables, fish or meat—whatever the ice box affords. The one thing you must have is a can of anchovy filets. They give the necessary "zip" to the flavor of the entire salad. Russian salad is best served with tiny rye bread rolls or hot corn muffins.

Here is a deliciously and different corn muffin recipe.

Mexican Corn Sticks
1 cup Sperry yellow cornmeal
1 cup Drifted Snow "Home-Perfected" Flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons melted butter
1/2 cup canned corn

Sift flour and measure. Sift again, with baking powder and salt. Mix well with cornmeal. Add milk to eggs and add to dry ingredients. Mix in corn and add melted butter last. Pour into hot greased corn stick pans and bake 15 minutes in a hot oven, 450 degrees. Or pour into greased oblong baking pan and bake 30 minutes in a hot oven, 425 degrees. Remove from oven and cut in strips 1 inch by 3 inches to serve. Two dozen sticks.

If just one guest pops in and the family intends having hash, have it anyway! Merely add a can of tomatoes, season it well, and let it simmer until the liquid is almost entirely absorbed. Then serve it in the center of a rice or noodle ring, sprinkled with chopped parsley.

And a little leftover meat will stretch a long, long way, if it's rolled in biscuit dough, just like

Add Zest To Summer Appetites

By JUDITH WILSON

All good things must end, so serve fresh fruits, berries and vegetables while they are in their prime. Do not be afraid your family will grow tired of them. There is no excuse for this if you look around for new recipes occasionally. Try this interesting combination which will have for you today.

Stuffed Peppers
For the filling you will need 1 cup of parboiled sweetbread that has been chilled and cut into small cubes. Make a sauce by melting 2 tablespoons butter in the top of a double boiler and blending in 2 tablespoons stock or canned chicken consommé and stir until the mixture is thick and smooth. Add 2 tablespoons cream, salt, pepper, paprika and a few drops Worcestershire sauce to season. Peel and chop mushrooms to make 1/2 cup and saute in 1 tablespoon butter until light brown. Add to the sauce with the sweetbread and cook until thoroughly heated. Cut a slice from the stem ends of six peppers, remove the seeds and membranes and parboil the peppers about 10 minutes in salted water. Drain, cool and fill with the sweetbreads and mushrooms. Sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven about 25 minutes.

FINANCES OF NATION ARE IMPROVING

Such Is Picture Given By Morgenthau in Year-End Report

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The "nation's stockholders" had before them today a report by Secretary Morgenthau saying that while expenditures during the past 12 months were more than double receipts, the fiscal picture has improved.

The treasury department, in a radio report last night of federal finances for the year ended June 30, placed receipts at $4,116,000,000, and expenditures, exclusive of debt retirement, at $8,500,000,000, leaving the year's net deficit at $4,384,000,000.

At the same time he declared the nation "may derive real encouragement and satisfaction" from his report of a rise in national income, an increase in federal revenue, a decline in federal spending and a continuance of business improvement.

Lists Recoverable Assets
Against the public debt, which he fixed at $33,750,000,000, the cabinet member listed recoverable assets of $8,750,000,000.

Ascertaining the government must estimate receipts and expenses six months in advance of the fiscal year's opening, he declared there were "unforeseen and extraordinary events." Among these he included a revenue loss of nearly a half billion dollars as a result of the supreme court's invalidation of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, and pre-payment of the soldiers' bonus, at a cost of $1,700,000.

Income Increases
"The actual receipts coming into the treasury during the year aggregated $4,116,000,000," said Morgenthau. "This is $316,000,000 more than came in during the fiscal year 1935, notwithstanding the loss of $444,000,000 through the elimination of processing taxes. But revenue from other sources increased $716,000,000, a gain of 20 per cent, due in large part to improvement in business and agricultural conditions."

Income tax collections of about $1,500,000,000, an increase of 30 per cent over 1935, and miscellaneous internal revenue collections of more than $2,000,000,000, an increase of 20 per cent were reported, along with a 12 per cent rise in customs collections.

Cites Relief Cost
Of the nation's $8,500,000,000 expenditures, exclusive of debt retirement, Morgenthau reported "approximately $3,300,000,000 was for recovery and relief."

Speaking in round numbers, Morgenthau said that "owing out of consideration the payment to the veterans of $1,700,000,000 the excess of expenditures over receipts for the fiscal year just ended is $2,700,000,000."

Women Leaders at City Play Areas

When Miss Netta Lounsbury took up duties as recreation leader yesterday for the Willard Junior High school summer playground program, all the city's summer recreation centers were supplied with women recreation directors, in addition to men on duty at each playground.

Women leaders previously appointed, and the playgrounds where they are on duty from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. five days a week, are as follows: Mrs. Caroline Barnett, Fremont school; Mrs. Nettie Harper, Lowell school; Mrs. Gertrude Warren, Lathrop Junior High; Mrs. Rachel Willis, Delhi school; Mrs. Gail May, Logan school; Miss Wilma Potter, Municipal bowl; Mrs. Ruth Milner, Franklin school; and Miss Frances Wells, Lincoln school.

Palestine's Arabs and Jews Seek Freedom From Britain

(This is the second of four stories from the trouble in Holy Land by Edward J. Neil, Associated Press foreign staff.—Editor.)

By EDWARD J. NEIL
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press.)
JERUSALEM.—(By Airmail and boat to New York)—An Arab lies behind a mound up in the hills beside the road which leads from Jerusalem to Jericho, or to Jaffa, or to Tel Aviv.

The lights of a Jewish bus gleam on the road below. The Arab rifle cracks; perhaps the bus swerves and plunges into a ditch; the injured scream; police and British soldiers hurry to the scene.

Why, in the shadow of the Mount of Olives, in sight of Gethsemane, is there a steadily growing danger of a shift in the theater of war from its most recent stage, Ethiopia?

Arabs Ready to Fight
What Arab leaders are left—many of them have been shipped off to concentration camps in the weeks of guerrilla warfare known as a "general strike"—insist the struggle will go on until Arabians win freedom from Britain's mandate and the right to govern Palestine.

The crops are in, the Arab peasant is well equipped for fight. Freedom, he insists, was promised him as the price of revolt against the Turks, helping Great Britain win administration of these lands in the World war. Now, he says, he will fight until the promise is kept.

Back for Retrial

Si Rubens, Los Angeles real estate man who jumped $4,000 bail and fled to China rather than face retrial at Stockton, Calif., on charges of grand theft and violation of the California securities act, is shown as he was returned by boat after his arrest in the Orient. ## DENY LIQUOR LICENSES TO 351 ATLA.

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—More stringent enforcement of state liquor laws was foreseen here today as the liquor control authority of the state board of equalization refused to renew or grant 351 off-sale permits in the scandal-ridden Los Angeles area.

Fourteen licenses were suspended in Sacramento and the owners of premises, all restaurants, were given 30 days in which to comply with phases of the law.

Forty-three applications for new licenses were refused in the Los Angeles area, as compared with only one refusal for the rest of the state. The new requests, as well as the 308 renewals, involved bars.

Members of the board said their action in Sacramento was a statewide ultimatum that license holders must operate within the law or face loss of permits.

Nazarene Church To Conduct School

Beginning Monday the Santa Ana Church of the Nazarene, Fifth and Barton streets, will hold a three-week daily vacation Bible school. Classes will be in session from 9 to 12 a. m., for all children of 4 to 14 years of age.

Mrs. Alice Owen, Costa Mesa, heads the staff. Mrs. Doris Lounsbury will superintend the kindergarten department; Mrs. Lucile A. Clark, the primary department. Juniors will be divided into four sections, supervised by Mrs. Esther Bottorff, Mrs. May Dunham, Miss Clara Dunham and W. J. Julian.

Helpers will include Miss Faye Martin, Mrs. L. S. Sharp, Mrs. R. W. Lewis, Miss Willo Martin and Wilmer Swafford.

Handwork will be part of the comprehensive program planned. There will also be singing, games, stories, dramatization, Bible study and social times with surprises for the children at various times during the school.

No charge will be made for the school. It will be strictly non-denominational.

HAMILTON RESIGNS JOB
CHICAGO, (AP)—Predicting victory in November, National Republican Chairman John D. M. Hamilton came to Chicago today to assume charge of the party's new campaign headquarters.

SAYS PARTIES GO BACK ON PLEDGES

Forum Speaker Contends Voters Are Always 'Skinned'

"I have never known either a Republican or a Democrat to keep his campaign promises. Both parties have been 'skinning' us ever since Grant was up for election. Look out for yourselves," G. E. Taylor advised Santa Anans assembled last night at the Forum for Political and Economic Education, held in the Unitarian church.

"We are wasting time fighting over platforms. Whoever is elected will be progressive if the people exert enough pressure," said Dr. E. J. Ruley.

These two statements were high points of speeches made from the floor, following an address by Thomas Kuchel, Anaheim Republican, who discussed the platform of his party.

Tariff Issue

The reciprocal trade and AAA policies followed by the federal government under Democratic administration are opposed and harmful to American interests, Kuchel declared at the opening of his speech in the Unitarian church.

Reciprocal trade purpose was to permit exportation of American surpluses, while the AAA made every effort to prevent a surplus, he said. He quoted the Republican platform draft providing for adjustment of tariffs to protect American interests.

Arranging the present administration for what he called unconstitutional methods, Kuchel warned: "When a President utters his contempt for constitutional scruples that would prevent perpetration of governmental alphabetical atrocities, it is time for Americans to stop and think."

Old Age Security

The Republican platform calls for return of relief administration to local, non-political agencies, he said, quoting statements of Louis Douglas, late director of the federal relief budget, that unemployment relief could have been accomplished at one-fourth of its cost during the present administration.

Old-age security would be provided for all Americans more than 65 years of age, with federal grants to states and territories contributing part of the cost, on a pay-as-you-go basis for each generation, the speaker declared.

Hoover Vote Regretted

Questions and five-minute speeches were called for by Paul Velez, presiding in the absence of W. H. Blanding, forum chairman. It was then that Taylor took the rostrum.

"I persuaded my 104-year-old father to vote for Hoover, thinking that Hoover would do something about poverty. My father lived three more years and never forgave me for urging him to vote that way," the 74-year-old Taylor averred.

The chairman pro-tem announced that J. Frank Burke would outline the Democratic platform at forum meeting July 8, at 8 p. m., in the Unitarian church.

Hitler Urged to 'Lay His Cards'

PARIS. (AP) — Authoritative French sources, hearing unconfirmed reports of an "important" German declaration was imminent, today suggested Adolf Hitler be invited to "lay his cards on the table" at the forthcoming Locarno session and "prove his good faith."

Officials said they had no confirmation of Mlle. Genevieve Tabouis' report, printed in the newspaper L'Oeuvre, that the reichschancellor would call a special reichstag meeting Sunday or Monday to hear a significant pronouncement.

They indicated, however, that Hitler's acceptance of a "cards on the table" invitation to the Brussels Locarno meeting on July 20 might delay application of the Franco-British agreement on March 19.

Durango Rebel Chief Gives Up

DURANGO, Mex. (AP) — Rebel Leader Francisco Garcia Toda and 23 of his men fled their fight against the government today.

The little band, long active in Durango state, entered the town of Canatlan yesterday, surrendered guns, ammunition and horses and received safe conduct home.

Col. Alberto Bellon Santana, who arranged Garcia Toda's surrender, received word the last of the Durango rebel chieftains, Federico Vasquez, also would like to quit.

HINDENBURG AT LAKEHURST AGAIN

LAKEHURST, N. J. (AP) — The German dirigible Hindenburg grounded at 4:20 a. m. today, completing its fourth commercial flight from Germany in record-breaking time. She carried 22 passengers.

What's Wrong With Birch Park?

COOL and green, Birch park reminds us of nothing so much these hot days as a shady oasis in a scorching desert of streets and buildings. A pleasant spot where ancient trees and broad lawns offer refuge to overheated wanderers.

Take a glance around Birch park. Over there sits an old-timer calmly watching life—here a weary mother struggles with two crying tots—a young girl rests her feet from tight shoes—three old gentlemen argue the Townsend plan—a business man snatches a few minutes' rest from store or office—a kiddie runs through a flower bed.

All kinds and classes use it as an outdoor parlor. But there is something wrong with Birch park. For one thing, there's not enough of it. And for another, there are not enough Birch parks in Santa Ana.

Anybody can tell you that. Newspaper reporters asked 300 people what Santa Ana needs most, and what do you think 179 replied? More parks and a civic auditorium!

Maybe we are mistaken when we say something is wrong with Birch park. Perhaps we should say something is wrong with our city councils, past and present—or that something is wrong with Santa Ana's civic pride. We won't try to place the blame. You blame whom you please.

But we'll bet on one thing. Some day, sooner or later, there will arise in Santa Ana some man, woman or organization broad enough to get this town a decent public park system!

They Belong Outdoors

EVERY American boy and girl needs to be outdoors when they are not in school. Bumping into Nature face to face, youngsters build self-reliance and health.

Until a generation ago nearly every boy had his gun and dog. And sister helped around the homestead. Today most youngsters dwell in thickly populated towns and cities. Their contact with the natural world is often only on occasional picnics. A few—all too few—go camping. Right now a lot of Orange county boys and girls are at mountain camps.

There are a lot more who should be, but aren't. They are underprivileged adolescents whom fate so far has denied the blessed development of communing with Nature.

You can help them by sending a donation to Harrison White, Boy Scout executive, for the summer camp fund. God made the country for youngsters. Help put them there.

Prophecy in 1936 A. D.

HAD A visitor today who is in an unusual business. He's a prophet. And a lot of folks think he is queer because he has long hair, a beard, and prophecies that our European-North American civilization is headed for a fall—much sooner than we think.

But H. H. H. Hephzibah—that's his religious name—cites the parable of the widow and her mite. He says the widow's gift of a mite was a bigger sacrifice toward the good things of humanity than the golden coins of the rich men. Bringing it up to date, he claims that the poor have to spend all for a bare living and the rich have more than they can spend. That's the trouble with our times.

Strange philosophy? Yes, but quite Christian. And pretty much in line with what a lot of national leaders and economists have been saying.

In case you are interested, Mr. Hephzibah lives in an old barn at Los Alamitos.

Blood in the Orange Groves

IMAGINE, for a moment, that you are out of work—your rent is overdue—the kids are hungry—and the California Fruit Distributors has offered you a chance to earn a little money picking oranges on the Mondotte ranch near Atwood in the strike district.

You are busy picking—when suddenly a screaming horde of men dash up in autos, carrying out-of-county licenses, and leap out brandishing weapons.

An agitator smashes you across the mouth with a heavy chain, breaking off your teeth. A striking picker stabs you through the arm. And, with the rest of your crew, you are clubbed and hurled to the ground.

This happened in north Orange county yesterday to a group of Mexicans from Uplands.

And yet some people say it is wrong to guard the groves with special deputies and highway patrolmen!

Less Work—More Money

THERE'S a higher pay scale on WPA jobs now—but the paycheck won't be any bigger at the end of the month. That is what an analysis of the government's latest work relief program shows.

The new "prevailing wage" scale which went into effect July 1 means little as far as the status of the worker is concerned. It makes the hour wage equal to that prevailing in the district, but no one is to draw more in a month than he did under the old rate. His earnings will remain exactly the same as before—from $48 to $70 a month.

Labor demands are said to be responsible for the change. But the worker does not benefit, it seems, except by more leisure time. And the government gets less work done for the same amount of money.

That won't sit well with a lot of WPA critics.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

The comeback of John Steel, the unforgettable tenor of many Ziegfeld Follies, follows closely on the chance rise of that other eclipsed singer, Benny Fields. Although Fields had never known the fame and acclaim that once was Steel's... or has he such magnificent voice.

Steel's salary at one time was $3000 a week and with royalties from records was almost doubled. Then he suddenly went out like a light. His voice remained of exceptional quality, but somehow managers gave him the go-by. He began to drift down the occupational scale.

Variety would report him singing in a chop suey restaurant in Brooklyn, in a second class cafe in Chicago, and finally he was almost singing for his supper in spots best described as dives. But he would not quit and for seven years he believed he would rise to the top again.

Several months ago he began to be noticed in one of the side street restaurants off Broadway. Soon he was packing them in and the Big Moment arrived. He began stopping shows in one of the biggest Broadway cabaret performances. From the dregs back to the top rung again.

Nothing in a name note: One of the Broadway show girls is programmed Ben Swift.

Beautiful family bonds always touch me. I have a friend in Minneapolis whose life is wrapped up in a talented, devoted daughter. Recently she went away to Pittsburgh to teach philosophy. Every morning and evening he writes her and once a day she writes him and her mother. "So you see," he sighs, "our family tie is not broken, only stretched."

The Bruce Barton's daughter Peggy has won a long and costly battle with a spin in injury in an automobile accident. She was in bed two years, most of the time facing possibility of never walking again. She is now in the last lap of her convalescence in California and will return to her studies next fall. She went through the ordeal without a whimper—an epic in fortitude.

Zanesville, Ohio, for its size, I am told, has produced as many headline names as any community of its size in the nation. Among them are Billie Burke, whose grandmother, Cecilia Flood, was America's first newspaperwoman, Julia Hoyt, Jean Starr Uppenberg, Peaches Browning, Raymond and Elizabeth Robbins and Howard Chandler Christy. Also the Chicago gangster, Dion O'Banion, Princess Anastasia, of Greece, spent much of her childhood with her uncle there, but Zanesville has never made a great deal over her socially. Her title meant nothing to the jet-bonneted dowagers.

And out in Crown Hill, Ind., they have discovered that John Dillinger's body lies in the same section with the beloved poet, James Whitcomb Riley. Righteous citizens have protested but somehow one can imagine Riley's flick of understanding smile. And he'd probably write a jingle, "Johnny's come home at last."

Thingumbobs: Traffic policemen say that, next to New York and New Jersey, the Ohio license plate is most frequently seen. Leon Blum, Socialist leader in France, eats four raw eggs for breakfast and nothing else... Brock Penner never misses a first night save his own... Gladstone had a ringing in his right ear from boyhood to his last days... Nazimova, 25 years a star, has played in every city in America of 20,000 and over... James Branch Cabell is known to his intimates as Branch... George Randolph Chester used to carry a spear in a chorus.

News item: "She arrived from Paris with a bunch of glass grapes on her hat."

I remember when our milliner came back from Cincinnati wearing a New England boiled dinner on hers.

(Copyright, 1936)

Journalaffs

Dear Editor: How would you classify a telephone girl? Is hers a profession or an occupation? M. J. R.

Neither—it's a calling.

Even in the old days, the movies weren't really silent. There was always a flapper sitting behind you, popping her gum.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—While the battle-cries against "economic royalists" at Philadelphia, practically no one noticed a case acted upon by the securities exchange commission which indicates that the battle—as far as Wall Street is concerned—is already in full swing.

The case is that of Euston-Montana Mines, and threatens to result in a supreme court test of the constitutionality of the securities act.

The issue is whether a firm, wishing to sell stocks and bonds to the public, can register with the SEC, and then having registered, withdraw its case after the SEC discovers grounds for charging fraud.

This goes one step further than the J. Edward Jones test, in which the supreme court decided against the SEC. Jones wanted to withdraw his registration before he had sold stock to the public.

But in the Euston-Montana Mines case, stocks actually had been sold before the SEC found an alleged falsification and issued a stop order against further sales. The SEC has now threatened to turn the case over to the justice department, while the Euston-Montana Mines threatens to take it up to the supreme court.

The case is the most important one involving the SEC that has come up so far. For a firm can register a statement and then, when challenged withdraw without fear of prosecution, then registering will become just a good natured game of tag.

Whether Landon wins or not, at least one Republican brain trust has a four-year job. He is Ralph P. Ward, tempted away from the Brookings Institution by the handsome $25,000 a year offer.

Other Republican brain trusters have been retained only for the duration of the campaign. All will return to their respective colleges in the fall except Professors Thomas Nixon Carver and Charles Bullock, who are retired.

SUPREME COURT SUMMERS
During all the hullabaloo of the national conventions, the nine old gentlemen who have provided more campaign material than almost anyone else settled down to peaceful summer vacations.

All but one of the supreme court justices have left Washington. The exception is Justice McReynolds, who is still in his apartment on Sixteenth street.

Further from Washington is Justice Sutherland, who boarded a steamer shortly after court adjourned for a pilgrimage to his native land. This will be the 25th trip Sutherland has made to England. He will also visit other European countries.

Justice Cardozo has a summer place at Rye, N. Y., within commuting distance of the pavements of New York which he loves, and for which he is actually homesick when he is too far away.

Justice Roberts was nearest to the Philadelphia convention and the denunciations which the court received at the hands of Democratic orators. He owns a farm at Valley Forge—in fact, six small farms which he has merged—although he leases it to a farming corporation, and gets a great kick out of being around to do odd jobs himself.

Justice Van Devanter also is spending the summer on a farm, that of his son in nearby Maryland. Justice Butler is at Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., a mountain resort, only two hours drive from Washington, where the Japanese ambassador and various diplomats usually spend their summers. Butler is an inveterate golfer.

SUMMER WORK
Although they are all vacationing, actually one justice is constantly available for an emergency signature of court orders to stay executions, grant injunctions, etc.

Furthermore, all of them receive at their summer homes a flood of briefs filed on cases which had arisen next fall, so that they can study them during the summer.

Before it adjourned, the court cleared its docket of all cases ready for argument, but there were 90 cases still on the docket which had not yet reached that stage. Among these are some New Deal test cases just as important as the vital measures acted upon by the court this winter. Here are a few of them:

A request for rehearing on the New York minimum wage law; a trial of the New York unemployment insurance act which involves a test of the New Deal social security law; the Duke Power company case, which involves the right of the government to use PWA money for public power projects; a test of the federal communication commission's authority over the accounting practices of the A. T. & T.; a test of the moratorium clause in federal bankruptcy legislation; and finally the holding corporation bill.

It looks like the next court session will be hot and hectic.

RICHBERG RETURN
Donald Richberg, ex-No. 2 New Dealer, spent two hours with the President while the Chief Executive was preparing his acceptance speech. Richberg, once again intimate at the White House, has made a close study of the recent supreme court opinions.

MERRY-GO-ROUND
Joining Landon's personal staff at Topeka, in the role of receptionist, will be blonde Lola Williams, for 19 years secretary to the late Charles Curtis, Hoover's vice president. Hearing about relief funds going into drought areas, the army sent an officer around to agriculture to ask if federal surplus relief might not buy a few horses for the cavalry.

WHAT HE'D DO

To the Editor: May I be permitted to say what I would do if I were president of the good old U.S.A.? This is what I would do: First, I would put each and every woman in the can that would work out of her home if she were married and had a husband working.

Second, I would pass a law that no one would have a right to hire a woman unless she were paid no less than $18 a week, regardless of the kind of work—that would include household slaves, too.

Third, no man would be allowed to work unless he was getting no less than $20 a week, and those who couldn't afford to pay said wages would have no right to hire anyone and would have to do their own work.

Further, anyone breaking these rules would be sent to jail for a year, without bail.

Fifth, I would have a place where unwanted young boys and girls could go, and keep them occupied with some kind of work.

CURBING DRUNK DRIVERS

To the editor: I am sending you a clipping out of a New York state paper, showing how they treat intoxicated motorists in that state:

"Albany, June 19.—The state motor vehicle bureau, in a campaign for safety on streets and highways, has withdrawn drivers' licenses from 1733 motorists during the first five months of this year, an increase of 365 over the corresponding period a year ago.

"In cases of intoxication revocation of licenses aggregated 976, an increase of 286 for the five months' period."

The California motor vehicle bureau would help curb the drunk driving menace if it would use the same method. It would help the campaign for safety on streets and highways.—A reader of your paper.

BEATING THE LAW

(By E. V. Durling in Los Angeles)

Am very reliably informed one chain of restaurants charges its waitresses one dollar daily for two meals. Just another brilliant idea on how to beat the minimum wage law. Men who have to do that sort of thing really shouldn't be in business. They not only lack ethics but are without business brains. The restaurant man who does the most business on one of the principal downtown streets pays his waitresses as required by law and also gives the girls three meals a day. And they keep all their tips.

Remarkable Remarks

Being a tenor is a disease. They are not quite human. In fact, there is a story that in Italy one gentleman pays his waitresses as required by law and also gives the girls three meals a day. And they keep all their tips.

I think the best way to make American businessmen realize how they let their chins, tummies, and arches drop, is to stage a man's fashion show in each office once a month. Includes Atlas, physical culturist.

I will never talk while playing the role of the forlorn little fellow I've known so long, but will when I play some other characters.—Charlie Chaplin.

If I had known what the bomb explosions were about Tuesday evening, my old grand army experience would have sent me post haste to the American Legion hall. Whenever there is an emergency it always interests me. I am so in hope that some of my friends need help. And then again I've got half a dozen oranges which haven't been picked.

I met a fellow yesterday who said he could beat the slot machines. I think it must have been the heat.

One Man's Opinion

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Honest Politics Is the Science of Government

SOMETHING good is developing in the attitude with which the public views its servants. The great "mass mind" is showing signs of life not visible in our generation. Lincoln's saying that "you can't fool all the people all the time" is coming to light. More people are taking more active interest in what is going on in public affairs than ever before. They want facts. They insist on publicity. They demand that public business shall be open to the public at all times and in plain language.

Much of this awakened interest public matters is the direct outcome of charges in public education. The whole field of social studies and the relationship of government to daily living are presented to the youth of today as they never were before. Every high school student gets some exposure to the principles of economics and sociology. More and more the people are learning that the government belongs to them; that there is nothing magical or profound about it; that it is a matter of facts and figures and costs. Also, that the principles of honesty, courage, intelligence and hard work apply to good government as they do to other fields of human activity.

The vast program of adult education has had profound results. Everywhere, in this country,

Around and About Town

This day has been one of inquiry about oranges, little about politics some about vacations, with a few digs about recent illustrations appearing in certain newspapers. Met Judge Scofield who insisted he was on vacation, which he was spending and enjoying in Santa Ana. Then he wanted to know where and when I was going. When I submitted a confidential itinerary including Delhi and Long Beach, he said the first selection was fine.

And then there was the gas man who went away on his vacation and left the gas burning.

The force of habit still holds good. I noticed Earl Morrow trailing back to the telephone office after announcement had been made of his retirement. Maybe he just went in to pay his phone bill, and maybe he didn't. Anyway, I had been in there about 20 minutes before he arrived. In order to make this statement perfectly clear I just called to find out if he was there. I'll bet no one believes that story.

No one asked me to say that The Journal will be issued early next Saturday, but it will be. You see I want the ministers to be sure and bring their Sunday announcements in early Friday. The advertising department will look after the material part of the business.

Phil Stanton sends me a card and says he wrote it all himself. Well, why shouldn't Phil write his own cards. He's had a lot of practice.

My good friend, Rev. Hatter, after getting a glimpse of the art work on the first page of last Saturday's Journal, drops the remark in passing that it was a good thing the Junior member of the family had returned from the East.

Three little tots at Fifth and Main waiting to get a ride on the street, and they waited until a thoughtful pedestrian on the opposite side acted as an escort. They held each other's hands, looked up and down the street waiting for a safe opening, but it was a long time coming. Their plight began to attract attention, and the intrepid section was negotiated under pedestrian supervision.

The Huntington Beach simile presents this situation: Instead of pouring oil on troubled waters it is now under the water.

Charley Neer took a sportsman's chance yesterday when he agreed to match a well-known business man for the lunch. Charley's ticket was 21 cents and the b. m. had obligated himself for 41. However, he emerged without either ticket.

I met a fellow yesterday who said he could beat the slot machines. I think it must have been the heat.

I am frequently importuned to answer the question: "How can you write a column every day?" That's what I've been wondering about for a long time. Not how I can write it, but why I write it. You see putting it that way makes it unnecessary for you to make the same inquiry. Long ago I decided that a columnist never made but one mistake—and that was when he started to write.

My friend Bill Hagthorpe has gone to the mountains, but the Orange County Reporter comes out every morning, Sunday excepted, because he left son Ed to run the linotype machine and supervise the collection of papers to subscribers, and if there is anything that Bill forgot he didn't intend to.

My adieu to June brides until next June.

Santa Ana vacationist, whose itinerary included that section of the country where the vernacular and folklore have not changed for many years, returns with a story about filial obedience which follows the strict letter of the law. He said that "mammy" inquired of son as to where his "pappy" was. The son said he was out in the barn. "Mammy" wanted to know what he was doing. Son said he was hanging himself. "Mammy" asked if he had cut him down, and the son returned a negative reply. He also gave a reason: "Pappy" wasn't dead yet. Major Wellington brought home the story—not the corpus delicti.
